Sikeston Police Have Special Agent

By Jerry Obermark

What is black and tan, weighs 100 pounds and is vicious?

Clues: His body structure is sturdy, his senses keen, his appetite astounding, his strength super human.

More specifically, his bone structure was x-rayed before he was approved for his line of work.

He is sure of smell, keen of eye, sharp of ear, aggressive by nature.

He has no code name, or no double o prefix.

He eats two pounds of dried protein-enriched food at one meal daily, and trims his nails by walking on concrete.

He knows but one master, one friend.

His only toy is the legbone of a cow.

Whether at work or in training, he tracks intrepidly, rushes his prey and fights ferociously.

The animal in question is not a mongoose.

The animal is "Danner," Sikeston's foremost, for that matter only police dog.

In addition to his other characteristics, the three-year old burly German shepherd, chases an average of one villian per week.

An unkept and seldom visited cemetery grounds, known as "Hart's Cemetery," two miles north of town along Ingram road serves as the training grounds for Danner's almost weekly sessions.

Sgt. Rueben Templeton, a five-year veteran of the police department, is Danner's master and only friend.

The usual villian chased during training sessions is patrolman Leonard Campbell.

Two of the three main training areas Danner learned at the National Police Academy in Moline, Kan., can be easily refreshed in training at the cemetery grounds: Tracking and fighting sessions are conducted there. His other specialty - searching - is not so easily simulated.

If a break-in is discovered at any building in town before the employes return to work, Sgt. Templeton puts Danner to the task of searching the building.

Danner proved his tracking ability about two weeks after he was acquired when on Feb. 17, 1966, he found two men, who were later charged with burglarizing a house north of town. The men were hiding in a wooded area about a quarter of a mile from the nearest road.

More recently Danner proved his tracking ability, when the chief villian, Campbell, and a mild mannered reporter were given a five minute headstart in the cemetery area.

Armed only with raw courage, cool cunning, mild curiosity, and the ridiculous idea that they could outfox the police dog, the pretending pair of fugitives wound their way through an area used for dumping discarded furniture, around several tumbled tombstones of the late 1800's. They finally sought shelter in a dense thicket of hinterland.

It took Danner less than two minutes to find the same spot.

Danner tracks silently and is kept on a leash during the hunt. He pulls his master along while tracking and shows no consideration for the fact that the master can't smell like he can.

During pursuit, Danner won't attack his prey without a command from his master, unless the villian or villians make a move that resembles aggressiveness.

When he's given the okay to fight, Danner goes for the right arm with no questions asked.

How ferocious his attack will be depends on how much the villian fights, Sergeant Templeton said.

"The arm is just the first thing he'll go for. If the attacked person wants to play rough, he'll go for anything."

When Danner's public enemy number one, Patrolman Campbell, fights during training sessions, he wears a heavily padded arm guard. The dog's jaws, which can exert more than 800 pounds of pressure, can have bruising effect even through the guard.

If the pursued person gives up without a struggle or shortly after the fight has begun, Danner will stand guard and watch his prey.

On the command of "sit and stay," he fixes his attention on the villian while Sergeant Templeton conducts a search for weapons. Any movement during the search will bring Danner to the rescue of his master.

Danner was purchased by the citizens of Sikeston early this year. The money to purchase him was collected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce who sponsored a "hot dog" day.

He was the pet of an army colonel and his wife who brought him to the United States as a pup. He was born in Germany, and has a pedigree with a German name requiring three lines to print and a working knowledge of the German language to pronounce. For convenience it was shortened to Danner.

Danner wasn't always so vicious. He was trained and he learned well. It took three days at the police academy for Sergeant Templeton to win his confidence.

"After that, the training went smoothly," Sergeant Templeton said. The normal two-week course was shortened by about three days. Danner's whole class was exceptional.

Even with his training, Danner is not really mean by nature. He could learn to accept the family of his master by repeated association.

However, Danner will not go out of his way to make friends, not even children. He'll only accept a friendly pat, if his master accepts the strange person and is present. Danner is kept on a special-made collar that resembles a small saddle when he is taken out of his 6 by 15 feet steel fence enclosed pen.

If need be, he could be retrained to a new master, who had the courage to win his confidence. Both the new master and Danner would have to

IT WAS A COLD, WINDY DAY when two pretending fugitives were given a five minute headstart, before police dog Danner was put on the track. He found the villainous pair, foreground, hiding in a thicket in less time than it took them to pick the spot. Sgt. Reuben Templeton has the dog on leash.

$1,965 Gift to Fund

Employes of Southwestern Bell Telphone Company exceeded their goal for contributions to the United Fund drive, Henry Bussey, chairman said today.

Company workers and members of the Communications Workers of America combined efforts and donated $1,965.27. The goal was $1,910.

Each employe was approached by a company man and a union steward and asked to donate. Employes were asked to have payroll deductions made or to make a cash contribtion.

Everyone in the company contributed.

A total of 136 persons contributed an average of $14.45. Jack Rubey and Jim Baker, served as co-chairmen of the project.

The United Fund now has about $23,400 pledged or collected, Bussey said. The goal is $33,400.

Agencies served by the fund are Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Missouri Delta Community Hospital, Salvation Army, Red Cross, City Welfare Center, Civil Air Patrol, and the United Service Organization.

Dexter Radio Stations Sold

DEXTER - Lionel D. Speidel, general manager of the Stoddard County Broadcasting Co., Inc., owner of KDEX-AM-FM, announces the sale of the stations to the Dexter Broadcasting Company, subject to the approval of the Federal Communications Commission.

The new Company is headed by Gerald F. Grojean, manager of KZYM Radio at Cape Girardeau.

Speidel and associates have operated KDEX-AM since 1956.

KDEX-FM is under construction and is expected to be on the air soon.

Speidel said that he and associates will devote themselves to their broadcast interests at Cape Girardeau, where they operate KZYM-AM, and a new FM station now under construction.

Taylor Alive, No Viet Nam War Victim

T/Sgt. Elbert L. Taylor, reported killed in action in Viet Nam Nov. 19, is alive, but he was injured on that date.

The death message was called to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Rodgers, by the sergeant's wife, a daughter of the Rodgers, stationed in a hospital in Japan.

The Red Cross received information that Taylor was alive but had no details other than that there was a mixup in the earlier report.

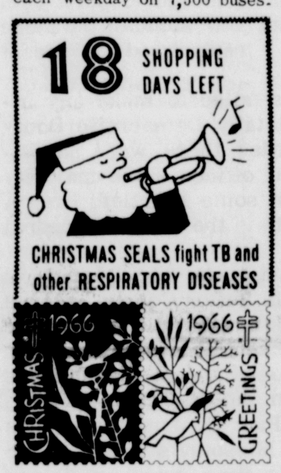

Rodgers said this morning that his son-in-law now is in a hospital in Japan.

Four Admitted To Hospital

Four persons were admitted to the Missouri Delta Community hospital Thursday:

Vernon R. Cooper of Bloomfield, ladder slipped from under him, fell injuring left foot and ankle; Matthew Stevenson, mashed finger between a machine and block; Tracy Suzanne Barnes, cut right index finger on knife and Dixie Wilson, soda bottle exploded, cutting right ankle and right elbow.

The New York Port Authority Bus Terminal handles an average of 200,000 passengers each weekday on 7,500 buses.

Copter To Haul Santa

Due to weather conditons which will not permit safe sledding, Santa Claus again will be forced to use another means of transportation when he arrives by helicopter at 6:30 p.m. tonight at the Midtowner Village Shopping Center.

Last night Santa visited the downtown area and arrived by way of a fire truck. What ever happened to the sleigh and eight tiny reindeer?

When Santa arrives tonight he will be greeted by Miss Midtowner, Teresa Hamelmann. The helicopter will land on the northwest corner of the parking lot. Then Santa will be escorted to the decorated Christmas trees in the center of the lot, where he will greet children and distribute candy and favors.

Santa is expected to make a tour of the stores in the shopping center. He will pull a little red wagon filled with candy and favors for children. He is expected to leave at 9 p.m.

The jolly old elf is expected to return Saturday and remain at the shopping center from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. He will be at the center on Friday afternoons and Saturdays from now until Christmas.

He will be present every day the last week before Christmas.

Judge Extends Club Injunction

BENTON -- A temporary injunction on the Sunset Improvement Club of Sikeston was continued in force following a continuation of a hearing in the state's case against The Sunset Improvement Club Thursday in circuit court.

The injunction was continued pending further evidence.

Every year an estimated 500 million people suffer from disabling diseases associated with unsafe water supplies, according to the World Health Organization.

Yule Gifts Arrrive in Viet Nam

Danny Alcorn has notified Mrs. Ralph Carroll that the package sent to him in Viet Nam has been received.

The package contained tooth brushes, toothpaste, shampoo, candy, clothing and Christmas decorations that will be given to Vietnamese people at a Christmas party.

Alcorn wrote Mrs. Carroll that the force logistics support group, US Company organic section bravo, FPO San Francisco, Calif., 96602, to which he belongs, hoped to make pictures of the party.

"It is the people in the town like Sikeston which makes it a Merry Christmas everywhere, especially for us this year in Viet Nam," he wrote.

The package weighed 100 pounds. American Legion Auxiliary and citizen contributions paid the $65 mailing cost.

Firemen Check Two Fire Calls

A minor explosion occurred early today in an upright gas furnace at the residence of John Alley, 316 Greer. Firemen were called to the scene at 7:08 a.m. There was no damage.

Firemen said the explosion was believed to have been caused by an accumulation of lint in the furnace.

Firemen were called at 7:20 a.m. to extinguish a fire at the residence of Clarence Morrisson, 108 Mill Row. The fire was confined to the roof of the house. It was thought to have started around the flue of a coal stove. Only the roof was damaged.

No one was injured in either fire.

Dexter Tavern Owner Charged

DEXTER -- Marion D. Orr, 39, Gray Ridge, owner of the Flamingo tavern, was charged with careless and imprudent driving following an accident shortly after midnight today.

Police said Orr's car struck a parked car owned by Walter C. Smith. The accident occurred across from the post office.

Thant's Election Assured

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (AP) — The re-election of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant for a new five-year term was assured today when the Security Council gave its unanimous approval and sent its recommendation to the General Assembly for ratification later in the day.

The 15-nation council acted in a closed meeting after the 57-year-old Burmese diplomat had bowed to continued pressure and reversed his announced intention to retire.

One factor which influenced Thant's decision to take another term, diplomats said, was the assurances given by the big powers that he would have full authority to use his initiative in peace making. The council adopted a declaration reaffirming a charter provision stating that the secretary-general may call the council into session whenever he believes peace is threatened.

A meeting of the 121-nation assembly was called for 5 p.m. EST to formalize Thant's election and to fix the date for the expiration of his new term as Dec. 31, 1971. Approval was expected to be unanimous.

Howard Schneider Heads Bank Association

Howard Schneider of Charleston was elected president of the Federal Land Bank Association by directors at its annual meeting yesterday attended by 150 members from five counties. He succeeds Dale Geske, route three, Matthews.

H.L. Goza of Essex was named vice president.

The meeting re-elected Charles N. Meier, Jackson, to the board for a three-year term. He was opposed by Harvey Brase of Delta. Besides the officers and Meier other board members are Vincent Dirnberger of Oran and Geske.

Dr. Charles B. Ratchford, Columbia, vice president of Missouri for extension, told 150 members and their wives at the meeting that in order to compete with the fast changing agricultural picture, it will be necessary to take four positive steps.

"They must find some way to increase their political power; increase their economic power by having better understanding and sympathy from urban population; change their attitude toward new developments of farm practices, as well as a positive action toward their community, as businessman, laborer, farmer and the consumer desire the same things."

The meeting was held at the American Legion Hall, on South Kingshighway. It began with a luncheon. The meeting was opened by Geske. Other guests were Walter Brown, St. Louis attorney for the Land Bank, and Mrs. Brown. Members from Cape Girardeau, Mississippi, New Madrid, Scott and Stoddard counties attended.

Following the address by Ratchford, Columbia, chairman of extension, the board elevated Howard Schneider, Charleston, as the new president, and H.L. Goza, Essex, as vice president. Other board members are Vincent Dirnberger of Oran and Geske of Canalou.

The 97-voice high school concert choir, under the direction of Gordon Beaver, entertained the audience with six Christmas songs. They were "Heavenly Light," "Come Let Us Sing of Thy Glory," "Born, Born in Bethlehem," "Carol of Russian Children," "Winter Sleigh Ride" and "Merry Christmas."

Hal Robertson, manager of the association gave the annual financial report which showed assets of $869,667.43, income of $70,768.99 and expenses of $25,110.79, for a balance of $45,658.20. Dividend payments totaled $28,909.75. Mortgage loans to 667 amounted to $10,-752,452, an increase of $2,-825,519. New business was 128 loans for $4.095.278. The report showed there were no loan payments past due.

Robertson called attention to the association's 50th anniversary in 1967.

Ratchford, who had three speaking engagements Thursday, arrived at noon from Columbia, where he spoke, and left after the Sikeston luncheon engagement for Kansas City for his third speech.

Ratchford predicted many changes.

"I must remind you that changes in the past thirty years have not benefitted everyone equally, as a small segment of our society has become poorer," he said. "Rural America can become a part of this society unless it takes positive action to avoid sliding backward.

"Any movement that would stabilize farm prices at too low a level for the farmer would be a devastating blow.

A second storm cloud is a lag in rural education, community in rural education, community development and special programs.

"The political cloud of farmers has been eroding for years, and resulted from a decreasing number of farmers. Even as a minority group it can seek allies and can be a powerful force in bringing about a more unified political approach. If they are to receive a fair share of national income they must develop strength in the market place.

"A third change the farmers need to make is in their attitude to ward new developments. They need not accept all of them but the proven ones by experiment stations will help them stay ahead in the world of competition.

"Through group action many things are possible. This is not in conflict with the basic heri-

The 97-voice high school concert choir, under the direction of Gordon Beaver, entertained the audience with six Christmas songs. They were "Heavenly Light," "Come Let Us Sing of Thy Glory," "Born, Born in Bethlehem," "Carol of Russian Children," "Winter Sleigh Ride" and "Merry Christmas."

Hal Robertson, manager of the association gave the annual financial report which showed assets of $869,667.43, income of $70,768.99 and expenses of $25,110.79, for a balance of $45,658.20. Dividend payments totaled $28,909.75. Mortgage loans to 667 amounted to $10,752,452, an increase of $2,825,519. New business was 128 loans for $4,095,278. The report showed there were no loan payments past due.

Robertson called attention to the association's 50th anniversary in 1967.

Ratchford, who had three speaking engagements Thursday, arrived at noon from Columbia, where he spoke, and left after the Sikeston luncheon engagement for Kansas City for his third speech.

Ratchford predicted many changes.

"I must remind you that changes in the past thirty years have not benefitted everyone equally, as a small segment of our society has become poorer," he said. "Rural America can become a part of this society unless it takes positive action to avoid sliding backward.

"Any movement that would stabilize farm prices at too low a level for the farmer would be a devastating blow.

A second storm cloud is a lag in rural education, community in rural education, community development and special programs.

"The political cloud of farmers has been eroding for years, and resulted from a decreasing number of farmers. Even as a minority group it can seek allies and can be a powerful force in bringing about a more unified political approach. If they are to receive a fair share of national income they must develop strength in the market place.

"A third change the farmers need to make is in their attitude to ward new developments. They need not accept all of them but the proven ones by experiment stations will help them stay ahead in the world of competition.

"Through group action many things are possible. This is not in conflict with the basic heri-

SELF-HELP AND PUBLIC RELATIONS

Cotton has been piling up while consumers have been buying man-made fiber products at an unprecedented rate. The cotton carryover is at an all-time high. Acreage is the lowest in almost a hundred years. Synthetics have racked up huge gains by outresearching cotton six to one and outpromoting it sixteen to one.

Cotton growers, however, are not taking this challenge lying down. They have initiated a self-help program to assess themselves a dollar a bale to effectively put research and promotion to work for cotton.

This program was incorporated into the Cotton Research and Promotion Bill and passed by Congress. This was considered the only way to make sure a dollar is collected on every bale, with all sharing alike, thus providing the kind of funds needed to make the effort really meaningful. The plan is still voluntary, however, in that any grower applying for a refund can get it.

This program which says "let us use our own money - not that of taxpayers - to initiate and run our own show" does a lot to contradict those who view farmers as first in line for government handouts.

It still must be approved, however, in a referendum of cotton growers and that comes up Dec. 5 thru 9. A tremendous "yes" vote not only could head cotton toward recovery but could do much to refurbish the public image of agriculture.

Upon reflection, the net result of the off-year elections was a return to common sense rather than a sweep for any single political party.

It is true that the result restored the balance in the two-party system. Congress no longer reflects the Johnson landslide, achieved in the presidential election, but the Democrats still hold control of the Congress.

President Johnson still wields the greatest power of any single American. He will have to be more careful in dealing with Congress if he wants to continue to be effective. It is unlikely that Congress will continue to vote into law a succession of liberal, big spending programs. Its membership now is more conservative than it was.

Liberals do not approve of this balance. We do.

If popularity of those mentioned as presidential candidate possibilities can be measured by the gain in congressional seats, Gov. George Romney of Michigan fared quite well. Michigan Republicans gained five seats in Congress, which was tops for the nation and tied only by Ohio. California, where Ronald Reagan was the big winner of the governorship, gave Republicans a gain of three congressional seats.

There were many contradictions in the election. Iowa returned a Democratic governor but the Republicans gained four seats in Congress. Kansas unseated a Republican governor seeking a second term because they blamed him for a state tax increase but returned five Republican congressmen.

The election of Winthrop Rockefeller as governor of Arkansas been hailed as a Republican triumph. Rockefeller himself has tried to give credence to this myth.

His election was a purely personal triumph. Arkansans felt obligated to him for the many things he has done for their state and they were disenchanted with the long service of Gov. Orval Faubus, whose administration was creaking, frayed and about to disintegrate completely before he left office.

One of the gratifying aspects of the election is that it proved to be a difficult time for a man to get elected to high office on the appeal of racial prejudice alone. Those, who had something more going for them, generally fared better.

On the whole the voters showed maturity and exhibited sound, common sense. Backlash and other secondary influences had only a minimal influence.

This country was stronger after election day than it was before. It hasn't always been that way.

CHRISTMAS IN "NO-MAN'S LAND" - How could anyone explain a miracle?

Many soldiers of World War I remember that Christmas on the battlefield. It was a night of nights; one which stands as a reminder that man cannot be denied peace if he is resolute in his pursuit of it.

It was December, 1914, and Christmas was approaching. The battlefield was a stark backdrop of contrast for men who remembered many Christmases in homes filled with warmth, gaiety, and reverence. As each soldier stared at his enemy across the "no-man's land" strewn with dead, it was easy to feel the irony of a Christmas in which men killed each other when they ought to be celebrating the birth of the "Prince of Peace" in a time of peace.

What was worse, there seemed to be no chance for a cease fire for even the most primitive battlefield celebration of the birth. Religious leaders across the world had appealed to the German and Allied armies for a temporary cease fire. But word had filtered back to each soldier that this greatest and bloodiest of all wars could not be stopped for any reason other than total submission of one side.

Then, very slowly, peace gripped the hearts of both armies. At midnight all firing stopped. It was Christmas morning. Rifles were laid aside, and a strange silence descended over "no-man's land." First, there was curiousity, then bewilderment. Men reached out to touch each other, and whispered Merry Christmas, Glory to God in the Highest, Is this our peace on earth? Some prayed. Others sighed wearily from the fatigue of war and wondered what was happening to them.

As the greetings were passed down the trenches, a voice rose above the din, and said: FROELICHE WEIHNACHTEN! (Merry Christmas.)

Many greetings were shouted in many languages between men who only moments before had fought each other.

Slowly, heads rose above the lines of trenches. The forms of thousands of men filled the night. And in the middle of "no-man's land" these enemies met face to face with peace in their hearts.

English plum pudding was washed down with German schnapps as mortal enemies met to eat and worship together.

The cease fire had occurred despite the awesome momentum of war. Inquiries were made about the incident, but how could anyone explain a miracle?

LBJ'S SPECTRE IN THE BOOTHEEL

In case Lyndon Johnson has any doubt about the popularity of many of his "Great Society" programs, he need only study the Nov. 8 election returns from Southeast Missouri. There he will find sufficient evidence to point to a growing disenchantment with some of the more foolhardy programs inaugurated in recent months.

Although Republicans failed to make any inroads in the almost totally Democratic Bootheel - in some counties there were no Republicans seeking local offices - the majority party failed to win, in some counties, even a majority of the contests in the off-year general election.

Cape Girardeau County saw six Democrats turned out of office. In Butler County, veteran State Representative John McMullin ran behind his GOP opponent and the race now hinges on the outcome of the absentee count. Republicans gained other offices in Butler County as well.

U.S. Representative Paul C. Jones, who has proved to be Southeast Missouri's most popular officeholder year after year, received 61 per cent of the vote, and while this was a good showing, it was less than the Congressman has received in other, less emotionally-tinged elections. Howell County, a GOP stronghold, gave a plurality to Rep. Jones's unknown Republican opponent.

This year's election stands in stark contrast to 1964, a year in which Democrats could have run on a laundry ticket and been elected. Not so, after just two years of the Johnson administration.

It is difficult to assess properly the extent of the LBJ damage in Southeast Missouri, but it takes no expert to note that it was certainly present in this Democratic area in 1966.

This is certainly the time for the Democrats to take a second look at the party's leadership at the national level and begin to make some repairs in the now-scarred "Great Society."

Unless, of course, the Democrats want to forfeit the 1968 elections to the party of Goldwater, Nixon & Reagan.

CHRISTMAS HOLLY

Holly, because it is always green, was regarded by the Druids, ancient pagan Irish priests, as being sacred. It became identified with Christmas because the early Christians believed the crown of thorns was made from holly. Legend says that holly berries were orginally white but that all of them turned crimson, like drops of blood, after the crucifixion of Christ.

There seems to have been a great rivalry in early English times between holly and ivy - the former being considered masculine, and the latter, feminine.

Holly was considered good luck to a household at Christmas. Whichever partner, husband or wife, who first brought a sprig into the house, was supposed to rule the household for the ensuing year. Holly is celebrated in such Christmas songs as "Deck the Halls With Boughs of Holly."

REPORTS ON PESTICIDES

Several years ago, largely due to a best selling book, there was a wave of fear that the use of pesticides was poisoning our food supply and destroying wildlife.

Now the Food and Drug Administration, after a thorough investigation, has reported that pesticide residues found in foods are "insignificant from a health standpoint." Further: "Pesticide levels found in the test samples were generally less than 1 per cent of the safe legal tolerance."

A House Committee has also reported on the matter. It finds that "only 0.4 per cent of the acreage available to wildlife has been treated" with chemicals, and adds that "Deer and other wildlife are more plentiful than before the advent of modern pesticides."

Chemicals, when misused, can present serious dangers, but the manufacturers have gone to every length to instruct in their safe and proper useage. It seems evident, from these reports, that the farmers are scrupulously following the right rules.

U.S. farmers would not be able to produce the bounteous crops they do if it were not for modern pesticides and chemical fertilizers. Their proper use will become constantly more important as population increases and farm acreage diminishes due to encroachment of cities, highways, airports, parks, golf courses, etc., over the tillable land.

THE DANGER SIGNS

Director J. Edgar Hoover o the Federal Bureau of Investigation recently said: "Is America as a Nation being swept by an epidemic of spiritual malnutrition? I fervently hope not; but the danger signs are all too clear. I fear that the public may be coming to accept widespread lawlessness as an unavoidable adjunct to our way of life.

"What has happened to the civic pride, the righteous indignation, of otherwise respectable citizens who turn their backs on helpless victims of beatings, robberies and sex crimes? The incredibly indifferent attitude of these people is exacting a heavy toll. It has helped to turn the streets and parks of many cities into virtual jungles of fear -- where, according to a recent survey, nearly one half of the residents are afraid to walk alone at night.

"Despite the continuing efforts of some self-professed 'experts' to minimize the crime problem, the undeniable fact remains that crime is increasing -- in both numbers and intensity -- at an alarming rate. It is growing six times as fast as our expanding population."

Mr. Hoover quites President Johnsons' declaration that "The control of crime is a major target of this administration." It should and must be. But that is not enough. It must be a major target of governments of all levels -- and of law-abiding citizens everywhere.

WHEN WE WERE A BOY we had never seen a deer, and while we had heard of them, it never occurred to us they would ever be plentiful in this area. Even forty years ago when we came to Shelbina, the best known deer was Rudloph the Rednosed Reindeer, and maybe the song about him hadn't been written then.

Porbably the deer is the greatest credit the Conservation Commission can use as proof of accomplishment, unless it would be the innumerable fish hatcheries and fishing spots in the state, to say nothing of the well stocked farm ponds in every area of Missouri.

There were no wild turkey in this part of the state when we were a boy, but next year several will be "planted" on farms in Shelby county. If the so called sportsmen do their part and wait until the Conservation Commission declares an open season, we may have wild turkey on our Thanksgiving and Christmas menus.

When we were a boy there was no such thing as a hunting license, and there were no limits on the number of quail you could kill in a single day. We believe there was such a thing as a closed season and we do remember it was against the law to net quail. Our late father-in-law told us of the patience it took to drive quail into a hoop net with widely spread swings to direct the walking or running birds into the trap. He said he would ride a horse very slowly back and forth across a field and sometimes never see the quail because of the grass, until they began to fly around in the net after finding themselves trapped.

Ammunition was very cheap in those days, as compared to today's prices, but money was so scarce that a box of black powder shells at 35 or 40 cents for 25 was not considered a bargain. It was a very common practice for someone who didn't have the time or ability to take to the field and shoot his own birds, to supply some hunter with a box of shells and expect a dozen quail.

We were only an average or maybe below average shot as a young hunter and can never remember having brought down more than one quail with a single shot, a pretty common occurrence even these days. Of course marksmanship doesn't count with such a matter, it is the luck of having more than one bird get within the spread of shot aimed at a certain quail. But we do remember a hunt with the late Leo Smithey of Paris on the Von Smock place, now owned by Cecil Evans east of Granville. The first covey we flushed Leo fired once and three quail dropped. He hunted all the remainder of the day and never got another bird. We did a bit better than that, but only one at a time.

We are hearing stories from hunters this season which take us back to our younger days when we expected to find several coveys of quail on every hunt. We have heard of a number of hunters recently reporting as many as six coveys on a single hunt. And birds were sufficiently numerous that we could find them without a bird dog, when we were a boy. We would "walk them up" the hard way. But we lost many a bird we shot down because we couldn't find them when a dog would have quickly retrieved them.

-Edgar Blanton in the Shelbina Democrat.

H. L. Hunt Says

EDUCATIONAL DICTATORSHIP

Throughout the twenty long years of the debate and the political struggle over whether or not there should be federal aid to education, opponents of federal aid continually pointed to the dangers of centralized federal control of the educational process, of a developing educational dictatorship in Washington.

Advocates of federal aid scoffed at these warnings and insisted there would be no federal control whatsoever.

Last year, federal aid to education on a grand scale was approved by Congress for the first time. Now, just one year later, the federal Commissioner of Education, Harold Howe II, has already made it unmistakably clear that he intends to use federal school funds to remake the whole country so as to create a "cultural mix" that will conform to his collectivist prejudices.

Congressman Wayne Hays of Ohio, a man known as a "liberal" whom no one could call a "right-wing' alarmist, has said that Commissioner Howe "is out to destroy the school system in the United States. This country would be far better off if he resigned."

Howe wants to use federal powers and federal money to alter and break up school districts, to bring school children by bus not only out of their neghborhoods but across state lines in areas like metropolitan Washington and New York. He wants to influence the use of school text-books to promote those which reflect his ideas "in the realm of segregation and civil rights."

Federal aid to education is now a fact, not a theory, and this is its result. If we are to retain it, at least we now have no excuse for closing our eyes to its dangers. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Walter Reuther and Jim Hoffa Line Up For Joint Attack on Old Labor Chiefs.

Washington, D. C.: -- There is an invisible alliance between Walter Reuther and Jimmy Hoffa.

They have much in common. They need each other to launch a third force on the labor front. They are Detroit - Midwest oriented. Their most intimate friends still call them "small-town boys," and this is reflected in their uneasiness in official Washington.

Both hate the stone - wallish AFL-CIO president George Meany. In recent weeks, both have been assailing this leader of almost 14 million members in public.

Both Reuther and Hoffa are deliberately changing their image. Both are moving to the left in America's political spectrum. Both are powerful trade unionists -- one leading 1.5 million auto workers and the other 1.72 million teamsters and helpers.

Thus both work on parallel lines. But inside labor geometric truisms go out the window. There are very few truly informed sophisticates who do not believe that sooner or later those parallel lines will cross to catch Meany in a cross fire -- and that the auto union and the teamsters will have an official working alliance.

Even at this moment there is consistant liaison between the auto workers' inner establishment and the inner sanctum of Jim Hoffa. There are direct channels of communication between the two men as well as between the two labor forces.

However, any official action must be delayed by Reuther and Hoffa until the turbulent teamsters hears from the Supreme Court on both convictions. If the top tribunal does not unchain Hoffa from those sentences, he will go to prison for more than a decade.

But while the Reuther forces wait for more strategic moments, Jim Hoffa now is "burning daylight" in his drive to remake himself.

He has, for example, just begun moving on the Negro front --though there are some 450,000 colored workers in his union.

On November 10 he asked the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. to lunch in the teamsters vast marble hall here. They discussed financial help from the Brotherhood. But Hoffa's enthusiasm went down with his milk when he learned that Rev. King's organization was in need of some $50,000. Image or no image, Hoffa is not known for his generosity towards non-affiliated organizations. Rev. King left no cash - or pledge. They agreet to meet again.

On the industrial front, Hoffa moved left more swiftly. In October the Teamsters Brotherhood absorbed the militant American Communications Assn., a union, now down to some 3,000 members, which was ousted from the old CIO on charges of following the Soviet line.

Its leader, Joseph Selly, variously accused of many things before a Congressional Committee, now heads the Teamsters Communications Division. What with being championed by the old left wing California longshoremen Harry Bridges, Hoffa now is well set in circles long expunged from the official American labor movement.

Thus Hoffa's new allies are Meany's mortal political enemies. Which puts the stocky, cigar chomping Mr. Meany right in the middle between two tough enemies -- the auto and teamsters chiefs.

Just how tough Reuther plans to get will be evident on Dec. 14 and 15.

At that time Reuther will make his big move against Meany and the massive labor federation, it is reported. The site will be right.

On Dec. 14 the Executive Committee of the powerful Industrial Union Dept. (IUD) will meet at 1 p.m. in the hotel Mayflower. Reuther is president of the six million - member section of the AFL-CIO.

There surely will be a brawl because Meany has influential friends on the committee. The next day the brawl will get broader if Reuther sticks to his strategy. At 10 a.m. that day the IUD general board will meet in open session.

Reuther, who has been attacking Meany with charges of ideological disloyalty to the proletariat, will have a world platform here. That day could see the splintering of the labor federation -- splintering, not split.

The parallel lines of Reuther and Hoffa may veer towards each other that day. Why not? Reuther now disdains the AFL-CIO leadership as much as does Hoffa.

On that day, a new civil war inside labor could be launched with an opening shot on the fortress Meany.

NEW YORK (ap) — She looks like a gazelle in miniskirts.

She doesn't wear rouge or lipstick. She doesn't smoke.

"And I don't dance at all — except in my mind always," she said.

But at 22, Francoise Hardy, the symbol of swinging youth in France, is reported to get more fan mail than Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The young singer composed her first hit song, "All the Boys and Girls," at 17. Since then she has met with an international acclaim as a recording star reminiscent of the quick rise of the Beatles, Elvis Presley, and Barbra Streisand.

The French government, which she says now takes 65 per cent of her earnings, considers her a national resource.

"Everything happened to me so easily," she said. "But success forces you to be too concentrated in yourself. It makes you egocentric, and I am afraid that is now my biggest fault.'

Francoise is pale and tall and lovely and has green eyes, a quick wit, and long hair that falls around her shoulders in an auburn mist.

She came here for a visit after making her English-speaking debut as a star in the MGM-Cinerama film, "Grand Prix.

Miss Hardy is a style setter in dress as well as in song in Europe. She once created a sensation by strolling into the staid Savoy Hotel in London in orange trousers.

Heads craned, too, the other day when she entered the fashionable 21 Club restaurant here clad in a beige sweater, dark Italian moccasins, heavily textured white stockings, and a very abbreviated plaid skirt.

"The American people treat you more as an object than as a person," she remarked with quiet composure. "this is not true in Paris."

Over a vegetarian plate — Francoise eats sparingly only twice a day — she told about her life.

"I want to know a lot of things -- everything about everything, but I know that is impossible," she said.

"I hope that in the future I'll find something else to do, but I don't know yet what. I don't feel clever enough to be a writer, and I never wanted to be an actress."

Francoise, who accompanies herself on the guitar, also keeps a staff of five musicians on her payroll. She herself composes about half of the songs she records or sings on television.

This is her philosophy:

"I am too young yet to know if life has a meaning. But I believe it is better to regret what you have done than what you haven't done. Who doesn't risk anything, has nothing."

To her, motherhood is the finest expression of creativity. But she says that at present she has no marriage plans.

"In France, we do not marry as readily as you do here," she said.

What was worse, there seemed to be no chance for a cease fire for even the most primitive battlefield celebration of the birth. Religious leaders across the world had appealed to the German and Allied armies for a temporary cease fire. But word had filtered back to each soldier that this greatest and bloodiest of all wars could not be stopped for any reason other than total submission of one side.

Then, very slowly, peace gripped the hearts of both armies. At midnight all firing stopped. It was Christmas morning. Rifles were laid aside, and a strange silence descended over "no-man's land." First, there was curiousity, then bewilderment. Men reached out to touch each other, and whispered Merry Christmas, Glory to God in the Highest, Is this our peace on earth? Some prayed. Others sighed wearily from the fatigue of war, and wondered what was happening to them.

As the greetings were passed down the trenches, a voice rose above the din, and said: FROELICHE WEIHNACHTEN! (Merry Christmas.)

Many greetings were shouted in many languages between men who only moments before had fought each other.

Slowly, heads rose above the lines of trenches. The forms of thousands of men filled the night. And in the middle of "no-man's land" these enemies met face to face with peace in their hearts.

English plum pudding was washed down with German schnapps as mortal enemies met to eat and worship together.

The cease fire had occurred despite the awesome momentum of war. Inquiries were made about the incident, but how could anyone explain a miracle?

LBJ'S SPECTRE IN THE BOOTHEEL

In case Lyndon Johnson has any doubt about the popularity of many of his "Great Society" programs, he need only study the Nov. 8 election returns from Southeast Missouri. There he will find sufficient evidence to point to a growing disenchantment with some of the more foolhardy programs inaugurated in recent months.

Although Republicans failed to make any inroads in the almost totally Democratic Bootheel - in some counties there were no Republicans seeking local offices - the majority party failed to win, in some counties, even a majority of the contests in the off-year general election.

Cape Girardeau County saw six Democrats turned out of office. In Butler County, veteran State Representative John McMullin ran behind his GOP opponent and the race now hinges on the outcome of the absentee count. Republicans gained other offices in Butler County as well.

U.S. Representative Paul C. Jones, who has proved to be Southeast Missouri's most popular officeholder year after year, received 61 per cent of the vote, and while this was a good showing, it was less than the Congressman has received in other, less emotionally-tinged elections. Howell County, a GOP stronghold, gave a plurality to Rep. Jones's unknown Republican opponent.

This year's election stands in stark contrast to 1964, a year in which Democrats could have run on a laundry ticket and been elected. Not so, after just two years of the Johnson administration.

It is difficult to assess properly the extent of the LBJ damage in Southeast Missouri, but it takes no expert to note that it was certainly present in this Democratic area in 1966.

This is certainly the time for the Democrats to take a second look at the party's leadership at the national level and begin to make some repairs in the now-scarred "Great Society."

Unless, of course, the Democrats want to forfeit the 1968 elections to the party of Goldwater, Nixon & Reagan.

CHRISTMAS HOLLY

Holly, because it is always green, was regarded by the Druids, ancient pagan Irish priests, as being sacred. It became identified with Christmas because the early Christians believed the crown of thorns was made from holly. Legend says that holly berries were orginally white but that all of them turned crimson, like drops of blood, after the crucifixion of Christ.

There seems to have been a great rivalry in early English times between holly and ivy - the former being considered masculine, and the latter, feminine.

Holly was considered good luck to a household at Christmas. Whichever partner, husband or wife, who first brought a sprig into the house, was supposed to rule the household for the ensuing year. Holly is celebrated in such Christmas songs as "Deck the Halls With Boughs of Holly."

REPORTS ON PESTICIDES

Several years ago, largely due to a best selling book, there was a wave of fear that the use of pesticides was poisoning our food supply and destroying wildlife.

Now the Food and Drug Administration, after a thorough investigation, has reported that pesticide residues found in foods are "insignificant from a health standpoint." Further: "Pesticide levels found in the test samples were generally less than 1 per cent of the safe legal tolerance."

A House Committee has also reported on the matter. It finds that "only 0.4 per cent of the acreage available to wildlife has been treated" with chemicals, and adds that "Deer and other wildlife are more plentiful than before the advent of modern pesticides."

Chemicals, when misused, can present serious dangers, but the manufacturers have gone to every length to instruct in their safe and proper useage. It seems evident, from these reports, that the farmers are scrupulously following the right rules.

U.S. farmers would not be able to produce the bounteous crops they do if it were not for modern pesticides and chemical fertilizers. Their proper use will become constantly more important as population increases and farm acreage diminishes due to encroachment of cities, highways, airports, parks, golf courses, etc., over the tillable land.

THE DANGER SIGNS

Director J. Edgar Hoover o the Federal Bureau of Investigation recently said: "Is America as a Nation being swept by an epidemic of spiritual malnutrition? I fervently hope not; but the danger signs are all too clear. I fear that the public may be coming to accept widespread lawlessness as an unavoidable adjunct to our way of life.

"What has happened to the civic pride, the righteous indignation, of otherwise respectable citizens who turn their backs on helpless victims of beatings, robberies and sex crimes? The incredibly indifferent attitude of these people is exacting a heavy toll. It has helped to turn the streets and parks of many cities into virtual jungles of fear -- where, according to a recent survey, nearly one half of the residents are afraid to walk alone at night.

"Despite the continuing efforts of some self-professed 'experts' to minimize the crime problem, the undeniable fact remains that crime is increasing -- in both numbers and intensity -- at an alarming rate. It is growing six times as fast as our expanding population."

Mr. Hoover quites President Johnsons' declaration that "The control of crime is a major target of this administration." It should and must be. But that is not enough. It must be a major target of governments of all levels -- and of law-abiding citizens everywhere.

WHEN WE WERE A BOY

We had never seen a deer, and while we had heard of them, it never occurred to us they would ever be plentiful in this area. Even forty years ago when we came to Shelbina, the best known deer was Rudloph the Rednosed Reindeer, and maybe the song about him hadn't been written then.

Porbably the deer is the greatest credit the Conservation Commission can use as proof of accomplishment, unless it would be the innumerable fish hatcheries and fishing spots in the state, to say nothing of the well stocked farm ponds in every area of Missouri.

There were no wild turkey in this part of the state when we were a boy, but next year several will be "planted" on farms in Shelby county. If the so called sportsmen do their part and wait until the Conservation Commission declares an open season, we may have wild turkey on our Thanksgiving and Christmas menus.

When we were a boy there was no such thing as a hunting license, and there were no limits on the number of quail you could kill in a single day. We believe there was such a thing as a closed season and we do remember it was against the law to net quail. Our late father-in-law told us of the patience it took to drive quail into a hoop net with widely spread swings to direct the walking or running birds into the trap. He said he would ride a horse very slowly back and forth across a field and sometimes never see the quail because of the grass, until they began to fly around in the net after finding themselves trapped.

Ammunition was very cheap in those days, as compared to today's prices, but money was so scarce that a box of black powder shells at 35 or 40 cents for 25 was not considered a bargain. It was a very common practice for someone who didn't have the time or ability to take to the field and shoot his own birds, to supply some hunter with a box of shells and expect a dozen quail.

We were only an average or maybe below average shot as a young hunter and can never remember having brought down more than one quail with a single shot, a pretty common occurrence even these days. Of course marksmanship doesn't count with such a matter, it is the luck of having more than one bird get within the spread of shot aimed at a certain quail. But we do remember a hunt with the late Leo Smithey of Paris on the Von Smock place, now owned by Cecil Evans east of Granville. The first covey we flushed Leo fired once and three quail dropped. He hunted all the remainder of the day and never got another bird. We did a bit better than that, but only one at a time.

We are hearing stories from hunters this season which take us back to our younger days when we expected to find several coveys of quail on every hunt. We have heard of a number of hunters recently reporting as many as six coveys on a single hunt. And birds were sufficiently numerous that we could find them without a bird dog, when we were a boy. We would "walk them up" the hard way. But we lost many a bird we shot down because we couldn't find them when a dog would have quickly retrieved them.

-Edgar Blanton in the Shelbina Democrat.

The Coast Guard, which has thousands of rescue calls each year, was originally set up to ward off smugglers. . .It was organized in 1790 when Secretary of the Treasury Alexander Hamilton was successful in having a bill passed for a "Revneue Marine of ten heavy-keeled schooners" to protect the coast against smugglers. . . The Revenue Marine was America's only fleet until the formation of the regular Navy in 1789. . . Since that ime, Hamilton's ten boats have multiplied into thousands of Coast Guard vessels and hundreds of air-craft. . . The Coast Guard, as it is called today, is responsible for a wide range of activities -- navigation, iceberg patrol, port security, weather stations, search and rescue missions and military operations . . .Best known for its rescue operations, the Coast Guard in 1965 alone handled 38,586 distress cases, in which 100,000 persons were assisted and nearly $1.9 million worth of property was saved. . .

H. L. Hunt Says

EDUCATIONAL DICTATORSHIP

Throughout the twenty long years of the debate and the political struggle over whether or not there should be federal aid to education, opponents of federal aid continually pointed to the dangers of centralized federal control of the educational process, of a developing educational dictatorship in Washington.

Advocates of federal aid scoffed at these warnings and insisted there would be no federal control whatsoever.

Last year, federal aid to education on a grand scale was approved by Congress for the first time. Now, just one year later, the federal Commissioner of Education, Harold Howe II, has already made it unmistakably clear that he intends to use federal school funds to remake the whole country so as to create a "cultural mix" that will conform to his collectivist prejudices.

Congressman Wayne Hays of Ohio, a man known as a "liberal" whom no one could call a "right-wing' alarmist, has said that Commissioner Howe "is out to destroy the school system in the United States. This country would be far better off if he resigned."

Howe wants to use federal powers and federal money to alter and break up school districts, to bring school children by bus not only out of their neghborhoods but across state lines in areas like metropolitan Washington and New York. He wants to influence the use of school text-books to promote those which reflect his ideas "in the realm of segregation and civil rights."

Federal aid to education is now a fact, not a theory, and this is its result. If we are to retain it, at least we now have no excuse for closing our eyes to its dangers. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Walter Reuther and Jim Hoffa Line Up For Joint Attack on Old Labor Chiefs.

Washington, D. C.: -- There is an invisible alliance between Walter Reuther and Jimmy Hoffa.

They have much in common. They need each other to launch a third force on the labor front. They are Detroit - Midwest oriented. Their most intimate friends still call them "small-town boys," and this is reflected in their uneasiness in official Washington.

Both hate the stone - wallish AFL-CIO president George Meany. In recent weeks, both have been assailing this leader of almost 14 million members in public.

Both Reuther and Hoffa are deliberately changing their image. Both are moving to the left in America's political spectrum. Both are powerful trade unionists -- one leading 1.5 million auto workers and the other 1.72 million teamsters and helpers.

Thus both work on parallel lines. But inside labor geometric truisms go out the window. There are very few truly informed sophisticates who do not believe that sooner or later those parallel lines will cross to catch Meany in a cross fire -- and that the auto union and the teamsters will have an official working alliance.

Even at this moment there is consistant liaison between the auto workers' inner establishment and the inner sanctum of Jim Hoffa. There are direct channels of communication between the two men as well as between the two labor forces.

However, any official action must be delayed by Reuther and Hoffa until the turbulent teamsters hears from the Supreme Court on both convictions. If the top tribunal does not unchain Hoffa from those sentences, he will go to prison for more than a decade.

But while the Reuther forces wait for more strategic moments, Jim Hoffa now is "burning daylight" in his drive to remake himself.

He has, for example, just begun moving on the Negro front --though there are some 450,000 colored workers in his union.

On November 10 he asked the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. to lunch in the teamsters vast marble hall here. They discussed financial help from the Brotherhood. But Hoffa's enthusiasm went down with his milk when he learned that Rev. King's organization was in need of some $50,000. Image or no image, Hoffa is not known for his generosity towards non-affiliated organizations. Rev. King left no cash - or pledge. They agreet to meet again.

On the industrial front, Hoffa moved left more swiftly. In October the Teamsters Brotherhood absorbed the militant American Communications Assn., a union, now down to some 3,000 members, which was ousted from the old CIO on charges of following the Soviet line.

Its leader, Joseph Selly, variously accused of many things before a Congressional Committee, now heads the Teamsters Communications Division. What with being championed by the old left wing California longshoremen Harry Bridges, Hoffa now is well set in circles long expunged from the official American labor movement.

Thus Hoffa's new allies are Meany's mortal political enemies. Which puts the stocky, cigar chomping Mr. Meany right in the middle between two tough enemies -- the auto and teamsters chiefs.

Just how tough Reuther plans to get will be evident on Dec. 14 and 15.

At that time Reuther will make his big move against Meany and the massive labor federation, it is reported. The site will be right.

On Dec. 14 the Executive Committee of the powerful Industrial Union Dept. (IUD) will meet at 1 p.m. in the hotel Mayflower. Reuther is president of the six million - member section of the AFL-CIO.

There surely will be a brawl because Meany has influential friends on the committee. The next day the brawl will get broader if Reuther sticks to his strategy. At 10 a.m. that day the IUD general board will meet in open session.

Reuther, who has been attacking Meany with charges of ideological disloyalty to the proletariat, will have a world platform here. That day could see the splintering of the labor federation -- splintering, not split.

The parallel lines of Reuther and Hoffa may veer towards each other that day. Why not? Reuther now disdains the AFL-CIO leadership as much as does Hoffa.

On that day, a new civil war inside labor could be launched with an opening shot on the fortress Meany.

NEW YORK (ap) — She looks like a gazelle in miniskirts.

She doesn't wear rouge or lipstick. She doesn't smoke.

"And I don't dance at all — except in my mind always," she said.

But at 22, Francoise Hardy, the symbol of swinging youth in France, is reported to get more fan mail than Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The young singer composed her first hit song, "All the Boys and Girls," at 17. Since then she has met with an international acclaim as a recording star reminiscent of the quick rise of the Beatles, Elvis Presley, and Barbra Streisand.

The French government, which she says now takes 65 per cent of her earnings, considers her a national resource.

"Everything happened to me so easily," she said. "But success forces you to be too concentrated in yourself. It makes you egocentric, and I am afraid that is now my biggest fault.'

Francoise is pale and tall and lovely and has green eyes, a quick wit, and long hair that falls around her shoulders in an auburn mist.

She came here for a visit after making her English-speaking debut as a star in the MGM-Cinerama film, "Grand Prix.

Miss Hardy is a style setter in dress as well as in song in Europe. She once created a sensation by strolling into the staid Savoy Hotel in London in orange trousers.

Heads craned, too, the other day when she entered the fashionable 21 Club restaurant here clad in a beige sweater, dark Italian moccasins, heavily textured white stockings, and a very abbreviated plaid skirt.

"The American people treat you more as an object than as a person," she remarked with quiet composure. "this is not true in Paris."

Over a vegetarian plate — Francoise eats sparingly only twice a day — she told about her life.

"I want to know a lot of things -- everything about everything, but I know that is impossible," she said.

"I hope that in the future I'll find something else to do, but I don't know yet what. I don't feel clever enough to be a writer, and I never wanted to be an actress."

Francoise, who accompanies herself on the guitar, also keeps a staff of five musicians on her payroll. She herself composes about half of the songs she records or sings on television.

This is her philosophy:

"I am too young yet to know if life has a meaning. But I believe it is better to regret what you have done than what you haven't done. Who doesn't risk anything, has nothing."

To her, motherhood is the finest expression of creativity. But she says that at present she has no marriage plans.

"In France, we do not marry as readily as you do here," she said.

Miss Margaret Ann Rister

Miss Rister Will Wed Carlton Harper In June

Mr. and Mrs. William Rister of 518 East Gladys announce the engagement of his daughter, Margaret Ann, to Carton Lee Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Harper of Fredonia, Ky.

Miss Rister is a graduate of Sikeston high school and of the Cape Girardeau Office Training School and is employed by Grant Oil Co. as a bookkeeper.

The prospective groom is a junior and a ministerial student at Bethel College in McKenzie, Tenn.

A June wedding is planned.

Mrs. Smith Speaks to Club Monday

Mrs. A.B. Smith spoke to the Junior Woman's Club Monday at the Mid - Towner restaurant on "Literature, Drama and Art."

She gave a resume of the past performances of the Sikeston Little Theatre and told of some of the plans. She told her audience of the things that transpire of which only the cast is aware.

Mrs. Smith told the group about the Art League and exhibited a notebook that held newspapers articles and pictures pertaining to the league.

Thirty six members and two guests, Pat Howard and Sharon Ruby, attended.

During the business meeting, the club decided to cooperate with the retail merchants in sponsoring a Santa Claus in the American Legion Park beside the Christmas tree sale the week preceding Christmas.

The club will begin selling candy.

The business session ended with the announcement that the Christmas party for members will be Dec. 17 at 8 p.m. at the home of Shirley Dyer.

Pie, coffee and sodas were served. Games were played with Ruth Ann Taylor, Johnalee Campbell and Pat Howard winning prizes.

Hostesses were Jimmie Lou Carter, Sharon Ferrell, Kay Vinson and Mrs. Dyer.

Mrs. A. B. Smith

Personals

Miss Sharon McClanahan and Miss Carolyn Harlein left yesterday for Davenport, Iowa, where they will be staying with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Miller for a month.

Here for the Thanksgiving holidays were relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burnett of 1611 East Matthews. Visitors were Mrs. Nettie Barrow, and a sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Allen of Birmingham, Ala., a brother, and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Burnett and their four children of Moline, Ill., and a brother-in-law Leon Riley of Silvis, Ill.

Please don't forget to call me and let me in on all of the little Christmas comings and goings that will soon be taking place. I mean if you don't put in the paper where you are going to be during Christmas, how in the heck do you expect Santa to know where to find you? Call GRI-0380!

Leaving next weekend for a month's visit to South America, is Mrs. Jane Urban of Green Meadows. She will be flying from Miami, Fla., to such exciting places as Venezuela, Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, and in Lima, Peru. She will spend Christmas with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Smith.

Joyce Ferrell Receives Cap

CHARLESTON - Joyce Ferrell, a student nurse at Deaconess Hospital in St. Louis, received her cap in a candlelight capping ceremony held in the school auditorium, Friday, Nov. 11 at 8 p.m. There were 72 student nurses and four X-ray technology students who received caps.

The address, entitled "Cap and Candle," was given by the Rev. R.M. Schroedel of St. Stephens United Church of Christ of St. Louis.

The student chorus, directed by J.W. Owens, sang "Climb Every Mountain." At the conclusion of the ceremony, the newly-capped student nurses recited the Florence Nightingale Pledge. Then the junior and senior students joined them in singing the school song.

Prior to the capping ceremony a reception was held in the large living room of the nurses' residence. The reception was given by the faculty in honor of the freshman nursing students and their parents.

Miss Ferrell is a member of the student Christian Fellowship of which she is program chairman. she also serves as organist for all student chapel services held in the hospital chapel. She will continue her education in the clinical fields of medicine, surgery, obstetrics, psychiatry and pediatrics. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Galen Ferrell.

Cub Scouts Receive Awards

Monday, Cub Scout Pack 140 had its November meeting at 7:30 p.m., at Matthews elementary school.

The meeting was opened by the Color Guard from Den 3 presenting the flag ceremony. Den 3 is one of the newest Dens in Pack 140 and the den mothers are Mrs. Don Bohannon and Mrs. Lee Matthews.

Cubmaster Fred L. Danner then presented 39 boys with 50 badges and pins that they have earned.

Mrs. Matthews led the Cub Scouts and their parents in group singing while the Cubs from Den 7 were getting into their costumes to present a skit.

This month's theme is "Adventure in Space" and Den 7 presented a "spoof" about some strange creatures from outer space. The boys appeared in their flying saucer, dressed in costumes they had made, strummings their paper sack guitars to the tune of the Purple People Eater. Den 7's den mothers are Mrs. Floyd Presley and Mrs. Burt Teachout.

Mrs. Herbert Collier's boys of Den 4 modeled the space helmets they have made this month and Mrs. Odell Phillips and Mrs. Larry Sellers, den mothers of Den 1, had a table displaying space items that several of the dens had made this month.

There will not be a pack meeting in December but the Cubs are going Christmas caroling at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 19.

Sharon Young Had Lead Role in Play

JACKSON, TENN. - The Union University Players presented "The Rope Dancers" by Morton Wishengrad as the opening play of the season.

Sharon Jackson Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z.T. Jackson, 707 East Kathleen, Sikeston, Mo., played Margaret Hyland.

"The Rope Dancers" tells the story of an early 20th century Irish-American family torn apart by alcoholism, bitterness and guilt. The daughter is afflicted and because the husband was once an alcoholic, the mother is convinced that the child's plight is their punishment from God.

The Little Theatre drama won the praise of New York critics when it was presented with a cast headed by Art Carney and Joan Blondell.

SEMO Tourney

Unseeded Teams Reach Finals

JACKSON -- Poplar Bluff and Kennett, two unseeded teams won the right to meet for the championship of the SEMO Conference tournament last night. Poplar Bluff raced past Jackson 63-48. Kennett edged past Dexter, 46-43.

Bluff used a pressing man-to-man defense throughout the contest and never let up until the final horn for a semi-final win. The Mules led throughout.

The Mules took an early lead over the host Indians, 19-15, and increased it to 34-26 at intermission.

Jackson used a zone type defense and pressed the final quarter. The score at the end of the third quarter was 49-39.

Early in the third period the Indians narrowed the Mules lead to three points, but Bluff began holding the ball and driving in for layups.

Steve Aarant, Bruce Holloway, and John Brown paced the Mules to their third win of the season against one loss. They netted 18, 15 and 14 points respectively.

David Clippard collected 13 points while teammate Duane Crader netted 10 points.

The second game of the evening saw coach Terry Turlington's Indians end four years of frustration, as they handed the Dexter Bearcats their first Indian loss in four years since coach Turlington has been coach.

The Indians used a man-to-man defense that had the number two seeded Bearcats off stride and took a 46-43 victory to move into the finals of the tournament.

Dexter formed a man-to-man defense, using a zone press throughout the contest but found the Indians' offensive machine too much to cope with.

Although the Bearcats David Guethle netted 21 points to take high scoring honors in the game the Indians used two double figure men to take the win. Jim Fingers and Mike Tweedy each hit the bucket for 12 points.

Dexter held a slight 24-23 lead at the half after being behind 12-9 in the first period. Kennett outscored the Bearcats in the third period 10-7 for a 33-31 lead and went on to increase the lead to three points in the fourth quarter, outscoring the Bearcats 13-12.

Poplar Bluff and Kennett will meet for the championship of the tournament at 9 p.m. Saturday, following the consolation bracket championship at 6 p.m. and the third place match, matching Jackson and Dexter at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

IT LOOKS LIKE Malden couldn't be beat if Carl Barker (13) really had four arms and four legs, but one set of limbs belongs to a Bloomfield player. Bloomfield advanced to the finals of the Bernie tournament by defeating Malden, 81-57.

Arkansas Opens Mizzou Basketball Season Saturday

COLUMBIA -- Two sophomores and a junior college acquisition will give Mizzou its biggest front-line of all-time when the Tigers meet Arkansas in a basketball opener here Saturday night.

At mid-week, Coach Bob Vanatta still termed two of his starting jobs "unsettled" -- but was leaning to rookies John Weston, 6-ft. 6 sandy-haired shooter from Springfield, and Booker Brown -- the seven-foot center from Kansas City -- as his probable picks.

Otherwise, Vanatta named his co-captains Ron Coleman and Rob Vanatta as the guard tandem. The graying M.Y. coach who directs his 21st collegiate team this winter and fifth at Mizzou, will go with Gene Jones -- the 6-7 ex-junior college standout at Paducah, Ky., -- as his fifth man.

Missouri's leadoff choices for the 7:30 tipoff against the Razorbacks won't be set, Vanatta said, until he checks out the scouting report of Arkansas' first start against Kansas at Fayetteville Thursday night.

"Our starters may vary all season long," Vanatta added. "It will depend on what the opposition has. We won't always be able to use the big boys to cover teams with smaller, quicker players."

Winning in December is an important factor, as Vanatta sees it, in the overall development of this year's club.

"We need to rebuild confidence," the coach noted, in an obvious reference to last year's dismal 3-21 record. Prior to the Big Eight tournament, Mizzou's pre-conference bouts will be with Indiana, St. Louis U., Detroit, Rutgers in Madison Square Garden, and a West Coast visitation to play Seattle, Santa Clara and the University of Pacific.

Coleman, the nifty outside marksman from Jefferson City, averaged 21.3 points a game last year, but the Bengals didn't have a comparable inside threat. Jones could fill that void -- and should team with Brown or Rich Milling (6-8) and Weston to provide rebounding strength that also was lacking a year ago.

Coach Vanatta will get a better size-up of his old-and-new athletes after this week's Saturday-Monday baptism against Arkansas and Indiana. The always-scrappy Hogs don't show a starter who's taller than 6-5 -- while Indiana's biggest is Bill DeHeer, a 6-8 sophomore from Maplewood, Mo.

New pilot at Arkansas is P. T. Waller, who succeeds Glen Rose, the longtime cage skipper. Missouri hasn't beaten the Southwest conference outfit since a 76-74 squeaker at Fayetteville three years ago.

Last year, a balanced attack -- led by Rowland's 13 points -- produced at 75-62 triumph for Arkansas. Coleman had 22 in a losing effort.

The Hoosiers have four veteran returnees to go with DeHeer -- Butch Joyner, Jack Johnson, Vernon Payne and Erv Inniger.

Doniphan-Malden In Consolation Match

Matthews And Bloomfield To Meet Finals Saturday

BERNIE -- Matthews and Bloomfield will meet in the finals of the Bernie Invitational tournament Friday night. They reached the finals with semi-final round wins last night.

Matthews, on the back of Tom Hicks, who scored 35 points and pulled down 23 rebounds, surged ahead of the Doniphan Dons in the second half for a 71-58 win. Bloomfield had little trouble with the Malden Greenwave in the final game as Doyle Swindell paced the Wildcats to a convincing 81-57 win.

A more than capacity crowd was on hand to see the semi-final matches last night. Fans backed up in the hallway to get a glimpse of the action.

Matthews, number one seeded in the tournament, and the area's top ranked team, found the Doniphan Dons tough to handle. It had to use a strong second half to overcome a half-time edge of 33-26.

The Pirates found themselves cold the first half, except for Hicks, who kept the high flying Matthews quintet in the game the first half, long enough for the other team members to catch hold.

Matthews took the opening tip, with Chuck Brooks driving in for a layup, which Hicks tipped in for the first score of the night.

Doniphan came out with a zone defense but fell into a man-to-man periodically during the first half to keep the Pirates offense off-stride.

After the opening bucket by the Pirates, the forerunners set up a zone press that gave the Dons little trouble as they quickly tied the score and set up a zone press of their own that rattled the Pirates and sent the Dons into an early 5-2 lead.

Hicks scored the Pirates first six points. Doniphan's Mike Duncan poured in six points himself while three other teammates added two points each for a 12-6 lead with 4:32 remaining in the first period.

The first quarter ended with Doniphan ahead 18-15 with Duncan scoring eight of the Dons points and Hicks 11 of the Pirates 15.

Doniphan opened its lead to 11 points in the second period but the Pirates whittled it down to seven at half, 33-26.

Hicks had scored 16 points the first half while Duncan and Joe Belcher netted 10 points each in leading the Dons attack.

The Doniphan quintet showed signs of tiring in the closing minutes of the second period. It seemed to be run down the second half allowing the Pirates to surge ahead.

Doniphan came out the second half, working the ball more, trying to run the minutes out on the clock but the Pirates man-to-man defense snatched the ball time after time and with 5:45 left in the third period had got to within one point of the Dons, 33-32.

Matthews' Chuck Brooks stole the ball six times in the second half to lead the Pirates defensive effort. With 5:11 remaining in the third period the Pirates went ahead and added up an unbeatable score.

Doniphan used the driving layup effectively in the first half, going to the baseline for the score.

The Pirates held a two point edge after the third period, 47-45.

It was all over for the Dons when the Pirates went into a zone defense as it seemed to shut off the Doniphan quintet's offense. The Dons got to within five points of the Pirates midway in the final period but Hicks scored two quick buckets and a free throw to put the game out of reach.

It was all Bloomfield in the second game as the Wildcats pulled out into an early lead of 6-0 and raced to a 21-9 first period lead.

The Wildcats again used their vicious zone press and man-to-man defense to corral their opponents. Malden used a man-to-man defense but the Wildcats offense used their good shots to advantage.

With 2:34 remaining in the second quarter the Malden quintet went into a zone press, causing the Wildcats to fold, but regained their pose after the Waves got to within 13 points, and pulled away after a huddle with their coaches. Bloomfield led 35-17 when the Waves went into the zone press and within 13 points of the leaders with 1:04 left in the second period.

Doyle Swindell ignited the Wildcats offense early in the game, cashing in on eight points the first quarter and ending the game with 20 points. He was followed by five other team players in double figures.

Malden closed to within 12 points, 39-27, at halftime but Malden had trouble in the second half and Bloomfield won the game going away, after the Waves ran the score to third period, but the period ended 54-40.

A total of 60 fouls were called in this second game, 32 on Bloomfield and 28 issued to Malden, including one technical foul.

Malden will meet Doniphan in the consolation game Saturday at 7 p.m.

The championship contest will match the area's top team against the number three rated Wildcats, who has suffered their only loss of the season at the hands of these Pirates early in the season.

The title game will immediately follow the tournament consolation match.

Unseeded Teams Reach Finals

JACKSON -- Poplar Bluff and Kennett, two unseeded teams won the right to meet for the championship of the SEMO Conference tournament last night. Poplar Bluff raced past Jackson 63-48. Kennett edged past Dexter, 46-43.

Bluff used a pressing man-to-man defense throughout the contest and never let up until the final horn for a semi-final win. The Mules led throughout.

The Mules took an early lead over the host Indians, 19-15, and increased it to 34-26 at intermission.

Jackson used a zone type defense and pressed the final quarter. The score at the end of the third quarter was 49-39.

Early in the third period the Indians narrowed the Mules lead to three points, but Bluff began holding the ball and driving in for layups.

Steve Aarant, Bruce Holloway, and John Brown paced the Mules to their third win of the season against one loss. They netted 18, 15 and 14 points respectively.

David Clippard collected 13 points while teammate Duane Crader netted 10 points.

The second game of the evening saw coach Terry Turlington's Indians end four years of frustration, as they handed the Dexter Bearcats their first Indian loss in four years since coach Turlington has been coach.

The Indians used a man-to-man defense that had the number two seeded Bearcats off stride and took a 46-43 victory to move into the finals of the tournament.

Dexter formed a man-to-man defense, using a zone press throughout the contest but found the Indians' offensive machine too much to cope with.

Although the Bearcats David Guethle netted 21 points to take high scoring honors in the game the Indians used two double figure men to take the win. Jim Fingers and Mike Tweedy each hit the bucket for 12 points.

Dexter held a slight 24-23 lead at the half after being behind 12-9 in the first period. Kennett outscored the Bearcats in the third period 10-7 for a 33-31 lead and went on to increase the lead to three points in the fourth quarter, outscoring the Bearcats 13-12.

Poplar Bluff and Kennett will meet for the championship of the tournament at 9 p.m. Saturday, following the consolation bracket championship at 6 p.m. and the third place match, matching Jackson and Dexter at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Arkansas Opens Mizzou Basketball Season Saturday

COLUMBIA -- Two sophomores and a junior college acquisition will give Mizzou its biggest front-line of all-time when the Tigers meet Arkansas in a basketball opener here Saturday night.

At mid-week, Coach Bob Vanatta still termed two of his starting jobs "unsettled" -- but was leaning to rookies John Weston, 6-ft. 6 sandy-haired shooter from Springfield, and Booker Brown -- the seven-foot center from Kansas City -- as his probable picks.

Otherwise, Vanatta named his co-captains Ron Coleman and Rob Vanatta as the guard tandem. The graying M.Y. coach who directs his 21st collegiate team this winter and fifth at Mizzou, will go with Gene Jones -- the 6-7 ex-junior college standout at Paducah, Ky., -- as his fifth man.

Missouri's leadoff choices for the 7:30 tipoff against the Razorbacks won't be set, Vanatta said, until he checks out the scouting report of Arkansas' first start against Kansas at Fayetteville Thursday night.

"Our starters may vary all season long," Vanatta added. "It will depend on what the opposition has. We won't always be able to use the big boys to cover teams with smaller, quicker players."

Winning in December is an important factor, as Vanatta sees it, in the overall development of this year's club.

"We need to rebuild confidence," the coach noted, in an obvious reference to last year's dismal 3-21 record.

Prior to the Big Eight tournament, Mizzou's pre-conference bouts will be with Indiana, St. Louis U., Detroit, Rutgers in Madison Square Garden, and a West Coast visitation to play Seattle, Santa Clara and the University of Pacific.

Coleman, the nifty outside marksman from Jefferson City, averaged 21.3 points a game last year, but the Bengals didn't have a comparable inside threat. Jones could fill that void -- and should team with Brown or Rich Milling (6-8) and Weston to provide rebounding strength that also was lacking a year ago.

Coach Vanatta will get a better size-up of his old-and-new athletes after this week's Saturday-Monday baptism against Arkansas and Indiana. The always-scrappy Hogs don't show a starter who's taller than 6-5 -- while Indiana's biggest is Bill DeHeer, a 6-8 sophomore from Maplewood, Mo.

New pilot at Arkansas is P. T. Waller, who succeeds Glen Rose, the longtime cage skipper. Missouri hasn't beaten the Southwest conference outfit since a 76-74 squeaker at Fayetteville three years ago.

Last year, a balanced attack -- led by Rowland's 13 points -- produced at 75-62 triumph for Arkansas. Coleman had 22 in a losing effort.

The Hoosiers have four veteran returnees to go with DeHeer -- Butch Joyner, Jack Johnson, Vernon Payne and Erv Inniger.

IT LOOKS LIKE Malden couldn't be beat if Carl Barker (13) really had four arms and four legs, but one set of limbs belongs to a Bloomfield player. Bloomfield advanced to the finals of the Bernie tournament by defeating Malden, 81-57.

Doniphan-Malden In Consolation Match

Matthews And Bloomfield To Meet Finals Saturday

BERNIE -- Matthews and Bloomfield will meet in the finals of the Bernie Invitational tournament Friday night. They reached the finals with semi-final round wins last night.

Matthews, on the back of Tom Hicks, who scored 35 points and pulled down 23 rebounds, surged ahead of the Doniphan Dons in the second half for a 71-58 win. Bloomfield had little trouble with the Malden Greenwave in the final game as Doyle Swindell paced the Wildcats to a convincing 81-57 win.

A more than capacity crowd was on hand to see the semi-final matches last night. Fans backed up in the hallway to get a glimpse of the action.

Matthews, number one seeded in the tournament, and the area's top ranked team, found the Doniphan Dons tough to handle. It had to use a strong second half to overcome a half-time edge of 33-26.

The Pirates found themselves cold the first half, except for Hicks, who kept the high flying Matthews quintet in the game the first half, long enough for the other team members to catch hold.

Matthews took the opening tip, with Chuck Brooks driving in for a layup, which Hicks tipped in for the first score of the night.

Doniphan came out with a zone defense but fell into a man-to-man periodically during the first half to keep the Pirates offense off-stride.

After the opening bucket by the Pirates, the forerunners set up a zone press that gave the Dons little trouble as they quickly tied the score and set up a zone press of their own that rattled the Pirates and sent the Dons into an early 5-2 lead.

Hicks scored the Pirates first six points. Doniphan's Mike Duncan poured in six points himself while three other teammates added two points each for a 12-6 lead with 4:32 remaining in the first period.

The first quarter ended with Doniphan ahead 18-15 with Duncan scoring eight of the Dons points and Hicks 11 of the Pirates 15.

Doniphan opened its lead to 11 points in the second period but the Pirates whittled it down to seven at half, 33-26.

Hicks had scored 16 points the first half while Duncan and Joe Belcher netted 10 points each in leading the Dons attack.

The Doniphan quintet showed signs of tiring in the closing minutes of the second period. It seemed to be run down the second half allowing the Pirates to surge ahead.

Doniphan came out the second half, working the ball more, trying to run the minutes out on the clock but the Pirates man-to-man defense snatched the ball time after time and with 5:45 left in the third period had got to within one point of the Dons, 33-32.

Matthews' Chuck Brooks stole the ball six times in the second half to lead the Pirates defensive effort. With 5:11 remaining in the third period the Pirates went ahead and added up an unbeatable score.

Doniphan used the driving layup effectively in the first half, going to the baseline for the score.

The Pirates held a two point edge after the third period, 47-45.

It was all over for the Dons when the Pirates went into a zone defense as it seemed to shut off the Doniphan quintet's offense. The Dons got to within five points of the Pirates midway in the final period but Hicks scored two quick buckets and a free throw to put the game out of reach.

It was all Bloomfield in the second game as the Wildcats pulled out into an early lead of 6-0 and raced to a 21-9 first period lead.

The Wildcats again used their vicious zone press and man-to-man defense to corral their opponents. Malden used a man-to-man defense but the Wildcats offense used their good shots to advantage.

With 2:34 remaining in the second quarter the Malden quintet went into a zone press, causing the Wildcats to fold, but regained their pose after the Waves got to within 13 points, and pulled away after a huddle with their coaches. Bloomfield led 35-17 when the Waves went into the zone press and within 13 points of the leaders with 1:04 left in the second period.

Doyle Swindell ignited the Wildcats offense early in the game, cashing in on eight points the first quarter and ending the game with 20 points. He was followed by five other team players in double figures.

Malden closed to within 12 points, 39-27, at halftime but Malden had trouble in the second half and Bloomfield won the game going away, after the Waves ran the score to third period, but the period ended 54-40.

A total of 60 fouls were called in this second game, 32 on Bloomfield and 28 issued to Malden, including one technical foul.

Malden will meet Doniphan in the consolation game Saturday at 7 p.m.

The championship contest will match the area's top team against the number three rated Wildcats, who has suffered their only loss of the season at the hands of these Pirates early in the season.

The title game will immediately follow the tournament consolation match.

Stability and Golf May Be Connected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that anthropologists have unwittingly discovered an aspect of human behavior which could unlock the doors to world peace is under some discussion on here.

A number of studies have accumulated in government archives which show that some primitive peoples work off frustrations by banging the ground with sticks.

The significance of this activity for modern man was almost universally overlooked until a political science student detected the extraordinary parallel between ground-pounding and the modern game known as golf.

From this he has postulated — tentatively — the theory that a nation's peace-loving quotient can be accurately established by counting the numbers engaged in golf.

Preliminary investigation indicates that where golfing is widespread no dictatorship can long survive. The anonymous scientist's initial findings are impressive and are here reported for the very first time.

For example, there are no known golf courses in the Soviet Union, Red China, Poland, Romania, Bulgaria or Albania. The number of courses in once-democratic Czechoslovakia has been reduced to two and they are primarily for the use of decadent Western diplomats.

The Communists reportedly object to golf on the grounds that it creates capitalistic class distinctions. Obviously, anyone who plays golf requires considerable capital.

Of equal significance is the fact that the English-speaking peoples, who have a long and unbroken history of self-government, are the world's most avid golfers.

For example, there are 8,567 golf courses in the United States and around eight million golfers. The Australians have approximately 1,100 golf courses and 500,000 practitioners, while the English and Scottish countryside maintains around 1,000 courses for 1.5 million golfers.

Cards And Cowboy Meet

Showdown Time In Texas

DALLAS - It's showdown time in Texas this week as the Football Cardinals and the Dallas Cowboys tangle Sunday with the Eastern Division lead at stake.

A huge crowd is expected at the Cotton Bowl for the 3:15 p.m. game.

The clubs are deadlocked for the Eastern Division lead with 8-2-1 records, and the winner will hold a one-game edge with only two games to play. After Sunday's duel, the Cowboys entertain the Redskins and then play the Giants in New York. The Big Red closes out its season with a road game at Atlanta and a home battle against Cleveland.

Cleveland, in third place with a 7-4 record, meets New York and Philadelphia before facing the Cardinals.

In their earlier meeting, the Cardinals and Cowboys battled 10-10 tie in St. Louis. Before the largest crowd in St. Louis sports history, 50,673, the Cowboys broke on top when Danny Villanueva booted a 17-yard field goal in the first quarter.

The Big Red came back in the second period to march 54 yards after Jerry Stovall intercepted a Don Meridith pass. Charley Johnson pitched a one-yard pass to Bobby Joe Conrad for the score and Jim Bakken's conversion made it 7-3.

A 45-yard pass from Meredith to Pete Gent helped the Cowboys take the lead in the final period. The pass, on a third-and-15 situation, put the Cowboys on the Cardinal four, and Dan Reeves scored. Villanueva converted to make it 10-3.

The Cardinals tied the score at 10-10 a few minutes later after Bob Hayes fumbled a punt and Dave O'Brien recovered. Bakken's 27-yard field goal was the equalizer.

Both teams had chances for victory in the final moments, but field goal tries by both Villaneuva and Bakken were no good.

The Cowboys, unbeaten at home this season, have some awesome statistics, both offensively and defensively, and have run up some victory margins like 52-7 over New York, 47-14 over Atlanta, 56-7 over Philadelphia and 52-21 over Pittsburgh.

The 10-10 tie between the Cardinals and Cowboys marked the lowest point total of the season for Dallas, which has averaged better than 33 points a game. The Big Red defense has limited 11 foes to an average of 16.4 points a game.

Dallas' losses came at the hands of Cleveland (30-21) and Philadelphia (24-23), but the Cowboys scored victories over those teams in their other meetings. The Big Red bowed to Washington (26-20) and Pittsburgh (30-9) and also notched victories over those foes in the other games.

Rookie-of-the-year candidate John Roland and veteran Prentice Gautt, who teamed for 140 yards rushing against Pittsburgh last week, will again pair in the backfield with quarterback Terry Nofsinger and flanker Bobby Joe Conrad. Up front, the Big Red will probably use Sonny Randle and Jackie Smith at ends, Bob Reynolds and Ernie McMillan at tackles, Rick Sortun and Ken Gray at guards and Irv Goode at center.

VOTE FOR COTTON RESEARCH AND PROMOTION

Save your markets, acres, profits

Your vote for expanding cotton research and promotion will really say something.

It will say you believe in positive action, not just talk, to reduce the all-time record cotton carryover. It will say you know the only way to get more cotton used is with research to produce better products and promotion to sell them. Your vote will say you don't want further acreage cuts–you want to keep on growing cotton at a profit.

The only answer to highest carryover ever... lowest acreage since 1872

Expanded research and promotion are cotton's only hope. With these same two tools, producers of higher-priced synthetic fibers have taken a total market now equal to nearly 7 million bales of cotton. They have gained over 2 million bales in the last 2 years . . . and new plants are scheduled with capacity equal to another 3.5 million bales.

Growers also can use these tools effectively. Experience has proved it. The only problem is to get enough money to use them on a big enough scale.

New legislation makes that possible. It enables farmers to vote, in a Beltwide referendum, on establishing a uniform assessment of $1.00 per bale for research and promotion. The law provides that individual farmers who do not want to participate can have their assessments refunded.

Funds from uniform collection will attract other money—more than two times as much on the average.

This plan originated with farmers. Thousands of growers and 61 cotton organizations across the Belt have endorsed it—overwhelmingly.

All projects must be initiated by grower trustees elected by cotton farmer organizations. Other provisions give equal assurance of producer control.

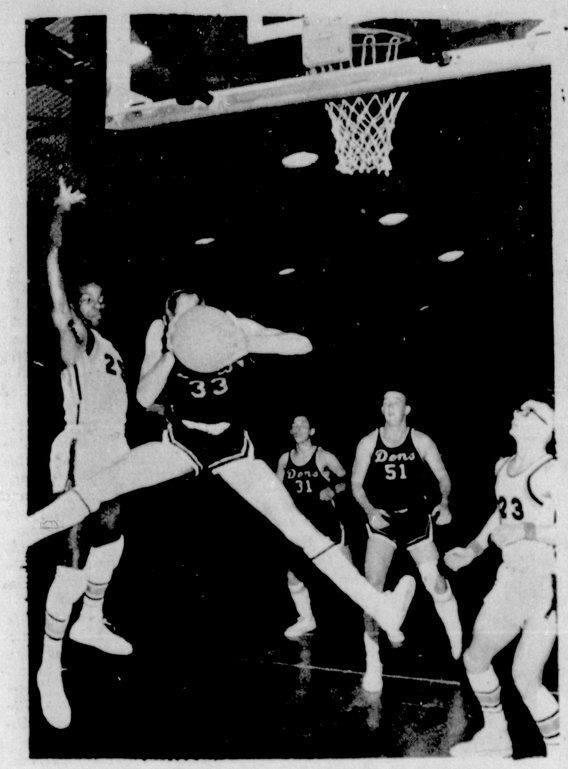

We, the undersigned, strongly endorse and recommend this uniform collection plan for research and promotion. We urge you to join us in working and voting for its approval in the upcoming referendum.

Help yourself to greater markets, acreage, profits

Stability and Golf May Be Connected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility that anthropologists have unwittingly discovered an aspect of human behavior which could unlock the doors to world peace is under some discussion on here.

A number of studies have accumulated in government archives which show that some primitive peoples work off frustrations by banging the ground with sticks.

The significance of this activity for modern man was almost universally overlooked until a political science student detected the extraordinary parallel between ground-pounding and the modern game known as golf.

From this he has postulated — tentatively — the theory that a nation's peace-loving quotient can be accurately established by counting the numbers engaged in golf.

Preliminary investigation indicates that where golfing is widespread no dictatorship can long survive. The anonymous scientist's initial findings are impressive and are here reported for the very first time.

For example, there are no known golf courses in the Soviet Union, Red China, Poland, Romania, Bulgaria or Albania. The number of courses in once-democratic Czechoslovakia has been reduced to two and they are primarily for the use of decadent Western diplomats.

The Communists reportedly object to golf on the grounds that it creates capitalistic class distinctions. Obviously, anyone who plays golf requires considerable capital.

Of equal significance is the fact that the English-speaking peoples, who have a long and unbroken history of self-government, are the world's most avid golfers.

For example, there are 8,567 golf courses in the United States and around eight million golfers. The Australians have approximately 1,100 golf courses and 500,000 practitioners, while the English and Scottish countryside maintains around 1,000 courses for 1.5 million golfers.

Cards And Cowboy Meet

Showdown Time In Texas

DALLAS - It's showdown time in Texas this week as the Football Cardinals and the Dallas Cowboys tangle Sunday with the Eastern Division lead at stake.

A huge crowd is expected at the Cotton Bowl for the 3:15 p.m. game.

The clubs are deadlocked for the Eastern Division lead with 8-2-1 records, and the winner will hold a one-game edge with only two games to play. After Sunday's duel, the Cowboys entertain the Redskins and then play the Giants in New York. The Big Red closes out its season with a road game at Atlanta and a home battle against Cleveland.

Cleveland, in third place with a 7-4 record, meets New York and Philadelphia before facing the Cardinals.

In their earlier meeting, the Cardinals and Cowboys battled 10-10 tie in St. Louis. Before the largest crowd in St. Louis sports history, 50,673, the Cowboys broke on top when Danny Villanueva booted a 17-yard field goal in the first quarter.

The Big Red came back in the second period to march 54 yards after Jerry Stovall intercepted a Don Meridith pass. Charley Johnson pitched a one-yard pass to Bobby Joe Conrad for the score and Jim Bakken's conversion made it 7-3.

A 45-yard pass from Meredith to Pete Gent helped the Cowboys take the lead in the final period. The pass, on a third-and-15 situation, put the Cowboys on the Cardinal four, and Dan Reeves scored. Villanueva converted to make it 10-3.

The Cardinals tied the score at 10-10 a few minutes later after Bob Hayes fumbled a punt and Dave O'Brien recovered. Bakken's 27-yard field goal was the equalizer.

Both teams had chances for victory in the final moments, but field goal tries by both Villaneuva and Bakken were no good.

The Cowboys, unbeaten at home this season, have some awesome statistics, both offensively and defensively, and have run up some victory margins like 52-7 over New York, 47-14 over Atlanta, 56-7 over Philadelphia and 52-21 over Pittsburgh.

The 10-10 tie between the Cardinals and Cowboys marked the lowest point total of the season for Dallas, which has averaged better than 33 points a game. The Big Red defense has limited 11 foes to an average of 16.4 points a game.

Dallas' losses came at the hands of Cleveland (30-21) and Philadelphia (24-23), but the Cowboys scored victories over those teams in their other meetings. The Big Red bowed to Washington (26-20) and Pittsburgh (30-9) and also notched victories over those foes in the other games.

Rookie-of-the-year candidate John Roland and veteran Prentice Gautt, who teamed for 140 yards rushing against Pittsburgh last week, will again pair in the backfield with quarterback Terry Nofsinger and flanker Bobby Joe Conrad. Up front, the Big Red will probably use Sonny Randle and Jackie Smith at ends, Bob Reynolds and Ernie McMillan at tackles, Rick Sortun and Ken Gray at guards and Irv Goode at center.

Legislator Says He Will Oppose Powell's Seating

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., said Wednesday he will move to prevent Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., from taking his seat in the new Congress unless Powell meets the requirements of court orders.

The New Yorker has been sentenced to jail by the New York State Supreme Court for criminal contempt arising from his nonpayment of a judgment levied against him for alleged defamation.

Van Deerlin said that because of this action "Powell would not be allowed to enlist in the Army, nor would he be accepted by Selective Service."

The Californian continued in a statement: "It would be a monstrous perversion of patriotism and morality if a man who would be barred from serving his country in uniform because of unlawful acts should be a voice in policies which affect the lives of men who do serve...."

Under House rules, at the beginning of a new Congress any member-elect may move that any other member-elect stand aside while the oath of office is administered. The House then decides whether the member-elect against whom objection has been made shall be allowed to take the oath. Under the Constitution, the House is the judge of its own members' fitness to serve.

Van Deerlin said he is making his announcement now so Powell will have time to satisfy the judgment against him and purge himself of contempt of court.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

No room at the inn . . .

. . . a haven by the manger.

THE CHRISTMAS STORY—I

Shortly before the birth of Christ, Mary and Joseph had to journey to Bethlehem to be taxed, as ordered by the emperor. They found the city overcrowded, and no room in the inn. There was anxiety in their hearts, but faith sustained them, and they managed to discover a stable where they might abide. At that moment it must have seemed that only the cattle and sheep would be there to welcome the birth of the Savior.

Legislator Says He Will Oppose Powell's Seating

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., said Wednesday he will move to prevent Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., from taking his seat in the new Congress unless Powell meets the requirements of court orders.

The New Yorker has been sentenced to jail by the New York State Supreme Court for criminal contempt arising from his nonpayment of a judgment levied against him for alleged defamation.

Van Deerlin said that because of this action "Powell would not be allowed to enlist in the Army, nor would he be accepted by Selective Service."

The Californian continued in a statement: "It would be a monstrous perversion of patriotism and morality if a man who would be barred from serving his country in uniform because of unlawful acts should be a voice in policies which affect the lives of men who do serve...."

Under House rules, at the beginning of a new Congress any member-elect may move that any other member-elect stand aside while the oath of office is administered. The House then decides whether the member-elect against whom objection has been made shall be allowed to take the oath. Under the Constitution, the House is the judge of its own members' fitness to serve.

Van Deerlin said he is making his announcement now so Powell will have time to satisfy the judgment against him and purge himself of contempt of court.

No room at the inn . . .

. . . a haven by the manger.

THE CHRISTMAS STORY—I

Shortly before the birth of Christ, Mary and Joseph had to journey to Bethlehem to be taxed, as ordered by the emperor. They found the city overcrowded, and no room in the inn. There was anxiety in their hearts, but faith sustained them, and they managed to discover a stable where they might abide. At that moment it must have seemed that only the cattle and sheep would be there to welcome the birth of the Savior.

Photographer's Death Calls Back Bramatic War Scenes

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Frank E. (Pappy) Noel, Associated Press photographer who eared the Pulitzer Prize in a career that spanned four continents, died Tuesday night after a long illness. He was 61.

Noel succumbed to a stroke almost two months after entering J. Hillis Miller Medical Center. He underwent brain surgery shortly after the stroke.

Pappy won a Pulitzer Prize in 1942 with a dramatic lifeboat picture of a Lascar seaman begging for water. The shot was taken as Noel drifted in a lifeboat in the Indian Ocean after his ship had been torpedoed as he fled the surrender of Singapore.

Noel had a knack for being where the action was. He was in Southeast Asia on a round-the-world photographic assignment when the Japanese attacked Pearl Habor.

He stayed to cover the Malayan jungle campaign in words and front-page pictures.

He later covered the war in Burma and India. After the war he was assigned to the Mediterranean area where he spent four years watching the Trans-Jordan conflict from behind his camera.

Noel was registered at the King David Hotel in Jerusalem in 1948 when a terrorist's bomb destroyed his equipment and personal effects. But Noel was at the front taking pictures.

His next assignment took him to Berlin where he watched the cold war tension develop. The Korean War erupted and he was on the front lines a month later, after volunteering by cable to New York.

Shortly after his arrival, Noel was trapped with a Marine outfit near the Changjin Reservoir. The Marines fought their way free and Pappy's pictures showed the action exclusively in newspapers around the globe.

The Marines commended him in a letter to New York and said he "personally risked his life many times" to get his pictures.

He continued to photograph front line action for two more months, scoring repeated beats with his graphic account of the war. Then he was captured while attempting to get help for a trapped motor convoy.

Pappy didn't let confinement in a prison camp prevent him from recording the war. A camera was smuggled to him by AP correspondents covering the truce talks and he managed to sneak out photos of captured United Nations forces.

Noel, a native of Dalhart, Tex., embarked on his career 41 years ago with the Chicago Daily News.

Before joining AP in 1937, Pappy covered the Mexican revolution as a freelancer. He also served as an aerial photography instructor for the Army, and was employed by the Washington Post, Wichita Eagle, Kansas City Star and Oklahoma City News.

After his release from the Korean prison, Noel returned to New York. He was sent to Tampa in 1958 and finished his career in Tallahassee, retiring last May 14.

He is survived by his widow, Evelyn G. Noel. Funeral arrangements were pending.

59 In A Series To Acquaint You With The Churches In This Area

THIS WEEK SALUTING

Tanner Street Church Of God

VERNON GUTTENFELDER
PASTOR

TANNER STREET CHURCH OF GOD

A good proof of the rich fellowship that prevails in a local church is the return of one of its former pastors for a second term of service. The twelve years we spent in Sikeston serving the Tanner Street Church of God built up such a lasting relationship that now we feel that we're really back home again. One never forgets this community no matter how far away his pastoral ministry takes him, or how long he stays away.

The Tanner Street Church of God is the local expression of a religious movement having its general offices in Anderson, Indiana. This is a fellowship of Christian people who are endeavoring to live up to the name they bear. Born in the 1880's this movement had as its heartbeat the restoration of the principles and practices of the New Testament Church among all believers. It cherishes the vision of uniting all Christians everywhere into the oneness of Christ. We believe the Church is not an organization you join, but a fellowship of persons who by spiritual birth have become members of the family of God. The Church of God is an open fellowship to all who have joined themselves to Christ. A slogan often used is, "where Christian experience makes you a member."

The Bible, which we believe to be the inspired Word of God, is our creed, our Guide - Book. We embrace the truth also, that the Church is governed by the Holy Spirit; that as the individual members invite the Holy Spirit to dwell within them, they are controlled and empowered by Him. His presence is the source of daily victorious Christian living, and effective witnessing. We think of ourselves as a movement within the mainstream of Christendom, working unceasingly to be a redemptive power in reconciling men to God.

One of the channels for carrying out our mission is the Christian Brotherhood Hour, international broadcast of the Church of GOD. Dr. Dale Oldham, one of America's outstanding Christian leaders, has been the featured speaker on this radio program since it began on January 5, 1947. The Christian Brotherhood Hour is carried by 300 radio stations, and can now be heard on every continent of the world. A former newscaster with more than thirty years' experience in religious broadcasting, Dr. Oldham was pastor for sixteen years of one of the nation's great churches -- Park Place Church of God, Anderson, Indiana. Dr. Oldham is constantly in demand as a speaker for city - wide preaching missions, interdenominational conventions, college and university convocations, ministers' meetings, and civic organizations. He is the author of seven books and hundreds of pamphlets, booklets, and magazine articles. He has traveled and prached in many countries of the world.

The Tanner Street Church is fortunate in having Dr. Oldham, and his son Doug, scheduled for an area - wide evangelistic crusade, January 22 to 27, 1967 in which several churches of South East Missouri will be participating.

Photographer's Death Calls Back Bramatic War Scenes

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Frank E. (Pappy) Noel, Associated Press photographer who eared the Pulitzer Prize in a career that spanned four continents, died Tuesday night after a long illness. He was 61.

Noel succumbed to a stroke almost two months after entering J. Hillis Miller Medical Center. He underwent brain surgery shortly after the stroke.

Pappy won a Pulitzer Prize in 1942 with a dramatic lifeboat picture of a Lascar seaman begging for water. The shot was taken as Noel drifted in a lifeboat in the Indian Ocean after his ship had been torpedoed as he fled the surrender of Singapore.

Noel had a knack for being where the action was. He was in Southeast Asia on a round-the-world photographic assignment when the Japanese attacked Pearl Habor.

He stayed to cover the Malayan jungle campaign in words and front-page pictures.

He later covered the war in Burma and India. After the war he was assigned to the Mediterranean area where he spent four years watching the Trans-Jordan conflict from behind his camera.

Noel was registered at the King David Hotel in Jerusalem in 1948 when a terrorist's bomb destroyed his equipment and personal effects. But Noel was at the front taking pictures.

His next assignment took him to Berlin where he watched the cold war tension develop. The Korean War erupted and he was on the front lines a month later, after volunteering by cable to New York.

Shortly after his arrival, Noel was trapped with a Marine outfit near the Changjin Reservoir. The Marines fought their way free and Pappy's pictures showed the action exclusively in newspapers around the globe.

The Marines commended him in a letter to New York and said he "personally risked his life many times" to get his pictures.

He continued to photograph front line action for two more months, scoring repeated beats with his graphic account of the war. Then he was captured while attempting to get help for a trapped motor convoy.

Pappy didn't let confinement in a prison camp prevent him from recording the war. A camera was smuggled to him by AP correspondents covering the truce talks and he managed to sneak out photos of captured United Nations forces.

Noel, a native of Dalhart, Tex., embarked on his career 41 years ago with the Chicago Daily News.

Before joining AP in 1937, Pappy covered the Mexican revolution as a freelancer. He also served as an aerial photography instructor for the Army, and was employed by the Washington Post, Wichita Eagle, Kansas City Star and Oklahoma City News.

After his release from the Korean prison, Noel returned to New York. He was sent to Tampa in 1958 and finished his career in Tallahassee, retiring last May 14.

He is survived by his widow, Evelyn G. Noel. Funeral arrangements were pending.

80 Attend Cub Scout Ceremony

Cub Scout Pack 40 of the Southwest elementary school had an advancement and awards ceremony Monday. About 80 boys and parents attended.

Carter Bell gave the invocation. Den 3 was in charge of the flag ceremony. Lee Shell led the group in singing. John Ensor gave the treasurer's report.

Dens 1 and 3 presented skits. The awards were presented by Cutmaster C. C. "Pat" Groves and Ensor.

Receiving awards were Stephen McDowell and Guy Polley, assistant denner; Stephen McDowell and Scott Hitchcock, denner; Tony Mullins and Bobby Mullins, one silver arrow; Bobby Mullins, one gold arrow; Mike Hampton, Tommy Bridger, Anthony Bell, Ronnie Hopkins, Mike Carroll, two - year service star; Billy Marcum, den chief card; Durwood White and Scott Hitchcock, wolf; Mike Hampton, bear; Anthony Bell, Ronnie Hopkins and Drew Matthews, webelos.

The webelos ceremony was conducted by Scoutmaster Roy Nall.

Den 3 conducted the closing flag ceremony.

The 400-pound pirarucu, or river whale, largest fresh-water fish in the world, is found in the Amazon river.

THIS WEEK SALUTING

Tanner Street Church Of God

VERNON GUTTENFELDER
PASTOR

TANNER STREET CHURCH OF GOD

A good proof of the rich fellowship that prevails in a local church is the return of one of its former pastors for a second term of service. The twelve years we spent in Sikeston serving the Tanner Street Church of God built up such a lasting relationship that now we feel that we're really back home again. One never forgets this community no matter how far away his pastoral ministry takes him, or how long he stays away.

The Tanner Street Church of God is the local expression of a religious movement having its general offices in Anderson, Indiana. This is a fellowship of Christian people who are endeavoring to live up to the name they bear. Born in the 1880's this movement had as its heartbeat the restoration of the principles and practices of the New Testament Church among all believers. It cherishes the vision of uniting all Christians everywhere into the oneness of Christ. We believe the Church is not an organization you join, but a fellowship of persons who by spiritual birth have become members of the family of God. The Church of God is an open fellowship to all who have joined themselves to Christ. A slogan often used is, "where Christian experience makes you a member."

The Bible, which we believe to be the inspired Word of God, is our creed, our Guide - Book. We embrace the truth also, that the Church is governed by the Holy Spirit; that as the individual members invite the Holy Spirit to dwell within them, they are controlled and empowered by Him. His presence is the source of daily victorious Christian living, and effective witnessing. We think of ourselves as a movement within the mainstream of Christendom, working unceasingly to be a redemptive power in reconciling men to God.

One of the channels for carrying out our mission is the Christian Brotherhood Hour, international broadcast of the Church of GOD. Dr. Dale Oldham, one of America's outstanding Christian leaders, has been the featured speaker on this radio program since it began on January 5, 1947. The Christian Brotherhood Hour is carried by 300 radio stations, and can now be heard on every continent of the world. A former newscaster with more than thirty years' experience in religious broadcasting, Dr. Oldham was pastor for sixteen years of one of the nation's great churches -- Park Place Church of God, Anderson, Indiana. Dr. Oldham is constantly in demand as a speaker for city - wide preaching missions, interdenominational conventions, college and university convocations, ministers' meetings, and civic organizations. He is the author of seven books and hundreds of pamphlets, booklets, and magazine articles. He has traveled and prached in many countries of the world.

The Tanner Street Church is fortunate in having Dr. Oldham, and his son Doug, scheduled for an area - wide evangelistic crusade, January 22 to 27, 1967 in which several churches of South East Missouri will be participating.

25th Anniversary Is Sad Reminder For Americans

SUNDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 7, 1941, the Imperial Japanese Navy launched a massive air attack upon the United States Naval base at Pearl Harbor.

This wanton act of war was to spur the United States in later years to keep its guard up at all times.

First bombs fell on Pearl Harbor about 7:55 a.m. The chief targets were the seven battleships among 94 naval vessels anchored in the harbor.

After the bombing had subsided, 2,280 military bodies were found lifeless on the land and under the sea. Some 1,109 other people lay wounded over the harbor complex waiting for the much-needed aid they required. In the city and on the air base 68 civilian bodies were found.

Japanese sank 18 American ships and destroyed 174 American planes.

What significance does this battle have for Americans today?

This is the 25th anniversary of the most atrocious act ever committed against the United States.

Each American should remember that a person died who loved and was loved.

Let's not let death become a way of life and just another statistical report in the magazine or on TV.

Men who died and who are dying today are regarded too much as numbers and not as persons who could have done more in life if they had been permitted to live.

Most people can't imagine the feeling experienced by a mother, a father, or a wife when the letter arrives home statying, "We regret to inform you--------."

December 7 is a day of infamy for all Americans, and the act committed should be remembered. Americans soon learned that death of its servicemen was a common-place occurrence around the world each day.

United States is losing men in another great battle today. The country is fighting a ground-action war and losing men each day.

It is time Americans put on working gloves and settled this situation the best possible way, or the Americans will become accustomed to the death of its young men each day for years to come.

Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, was a day of infamy, and a day when men died to make men free.

REMEMBER!

Drama Club Will Present Stage Production Tonight

"Night of January 16," directed by Miss Carole Williams, will be presented tonight and tomorrow night in the middle school auditorium. Curtain time is 8 o'clock.

Main plot of the story is that of a woman on trail for murder, and the verdict will be determined by members of the jury who are chosen from the audience.

Karen Andre, defendant in the murder trial, will be played by Doris Ray.

Leading male role of prosecuting attorney will be played by David Stallings.

Other students taking part in tonight's play are Bobbye Scott, Suzanne Lemonds, Bob Urban, Marvin Gilmore, Mike Hixon, Danny Cannon, and John Hough.

Sandra Willis, Skip Alsup, Dianna Chism, Charles Atchison, Paul Latham, Greer Huff, and Sheila Topp.

David Boyer, Jeannette Meredith, Janet Bell, Robert Hazel, and Stanely Shuffit.

Verdict of the case will be determined by members of the jury who are to be chosen from the audience.

Players do not know the outcome of the play until the actual presentation.

Admission to the play will be $1 for adults, and students with activity tickets will be admitted free of charge.

Members of the cast and drama club urge the student body to attend the play.

'Thanksgiving Assembly' Features Student Speakers

Five students of Sikeston high school conducted the annual Thanksgiving assembly last Wednesday afternoon.

Senior Charles Stamp presided over the assembly and gave a welcome to the student body, faculty, and guests.

He was assisted by sopnamore Mike Struwe who spoke on the subject, "Origin of the Harvest Feast."

Junior Jim Bucher and senior Steve Spear discussed the topic "Every Day Is Thanksgiving Day."

Concert choir, directed by Gordon Beaver, rendered four selections.

Numbers were "Heavenly Light," written by Kopylow; "They That Know Thy Name"; "God That Made the World"; and "Offer Unto God Thanksgiving"; all written by L. S. Glarum.

Senior Tom Phillips concluded the program with "Prayer for Thanksgiving" by Joseph Auslander.

Members of the junior class were in the cafetorium, and the program was carried over the loud speakers to the other students in school.

Paula Waldman, chairman of the assembly committee, was in charge of the plans for the assembly.

Holiday Season Arrives; Men Overseas Remembered

Most Americans share this holiday season--Thanksgiving, Advent, and Christmas -- with their families and friends, for this is a time to be united.

To thousands of Americans, however, the family circle is incomplete. The gaps left by the men who are fighting in Vietnam are the most poignant of these vacancies.

At home, Americans are celebrating this usually festive holiday season in solemn pondering about the welfare of their countrymen abroad.

Fond memories of home are most valuable at this time to the brave men who are defending our most precious intangible resources, democracy and freedom.

Although this holiday season will be one of sadness for many Americans, let us be thankful that we are citizens of an abundant society such as this, and that our security is being preserved.

The men who are risking their lives for our well-being deserve the utmost support not only through the holiday season, but through every prayer of every season.

--Linda Bennett.

Student Council Delegates Attend Dist. Convention

Student body president Brian Underwood and senior Richard Sherrod recently attended a district student council convention as the official delegates from Sikeston high school at Illmo-Scott City.

Seniors Mike Hixon and Sidney Stauffer and juniors Mike Musick and Gary Wiss were also participants in the convention.

Sponsor Bernard Kincy accompanied the group for the day's meeting.

"Safety" was the overall theme for the day, and the group held discussions pertinent to the subject.

Delegates attending were divided into committees where they discussed school government problems and possible solutions to these questions.

Ideas for projects for councils were also considered.

"It is better to have loafed and lost than never to have loafed at all."

Sophs Take Maturity Test

SOPHOMORE BETH MONTGOMERY ponders over a question on the California Mental Maturity Test which was given yesterday morning.

* * *

Sophomores of Sikeston high school took the California Mental Maturity Test yesterday morning during the second and third hours.

This test measures the achievements, skills, aptitudes, and attitudes of the student.

Placement of the student is partially determined from this test, and it is designed to show a student's potential working and learning capacity.

CTMM is divided into four sections -- spatial relationships, numerical reasoning, logical reasoning, and verbal concepts.

Testing was supervised by Mrs. Helen Reuber, Chester Masterson, and Gerald Hancock, guidance counselors in Sikeston high school.

BULLDOG BARKER

Volume 30, Number 11 SIKESTON HIGH SCHOOL, SIKESTON, MISSOURI Friday, December 2, 1966

Nowell, Blackman Named Royalty

CONNIE NOWELL and ROGER BLACKMAN are crowned by Growler staff members Linda Bennett and Cheryl Hurley.

Student Council Delegates Attend Dist. Convention

'Student body president Brian Underwood and senior Richard Sherrod recently attended a district student council convention as the official delegates from Sikeston high school at Illmo-Scott City.

Seniors Mike Hixon and Sidney Stauffer and juniors Mike Musick and Gary Wiss were also participants in the convention.

Sponsor Bernard Kincy accompanied the group for the day's meeting.

"Safety" was the overall theme for the day, and the group held discussions pertinent to the subject.

Delegates attending were divided into committees where they discussed school government problems and possible solutions to these questions.

Ideas for projects for councils were also considered.

"It is better to have loafed and lost than never to have loafed at all."

25th Anniversary Is Sad Reminder For Americans

SUNDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 7, 1941, the Imperial Japanese Navy launched a massive air attack upon the United States Naval base at Pearl Harbor.

This wanton act of war was to spur the United States in later years to keep its guard up at all times.

First bombs fell on Pearl Harbor about 7:55 a.m. The chief targets were the seven battleships among 94 naval vessels anchored in the harbor.

After the bombing had subsided, 2,280 military bodies were found lifeless on the land and under the sea. Some 1,109 other people lay wounded over the harbor complex waiting for the much-needed aid they required. In the city and on the air base 68 civilian bodies were found.

Japanese sank 18 American ships and destroyed 174 American planes.

What significance does this battle have for Americans today?

This is the 25th anniversary of the most atrocious act ever committed against the United States.

Each American should remember that a person died who loved and was loved.

Let's not let death become a way of life and just another statistical report in the magazine or on TV.

Men who died and who are dying today are regarded too much as numbers and not as persons who could have done more in life if they had been permitted to live.

Most people can't imagine the feeling experienced by a mother, a father, or a wife when the letter arrives home statying, "We regret to inform you--------."

December 7 is a day of infamy for all Americans, and the act committed should be remembered. Americans soon learned that death of its servicemen was a common-place occurrence around the world each day.

United States is losing men in another great battle today. The country is fighting a ground-action war and losing men each day.

It is time Americans put on working gloves and settled this situation the best possible way, or the Americans will become accustomed to the death of its young men each day for years to come.

Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, was a day of infamy, and a day when men died to make men free.

REMEMBER!

Drama Club Will Present Stage Production Tonight

"Night of January 16," directed by Miss Carole Williams, will be presented tonight and tomorrow night in the middle school auditorium. Curtain time is 8 o'clock.

Main plot of the story is that of a woman on trail for murder, and the verdict will be determined by members of the jury who are chosen from the audience.

Karen Andre, defendant in the murder trial, will be played by Doris Ray.

Leading male role of prosecuting attorney will be played by David Stallings.

Other students taking part in tonight's play are Bobbye Scott, Suzanne Lemonds, Bob Urban, Marvin Gilmore, Mike Hixon, Danny Cannon, and John Hough.

Sandra Willis, Skip Alsup, Dianna Chism, Charles Atchison, Paul Latham, Greer Huff, and Sheila Topp.

David Boyer, Jeannette Meredith, Janet Bell, Robert Hazel, and Stanely Shuffit.

Verdict of the case will be determined by members of the jury who are to be chosen from the audience.

Players do not know the outcome of the play until the actual presentation.

Admission to the play will be $1 for adults, and students with activity tickets will be admitted free of charge.

Members of the cast and drama club urge the student body to attend the play.

'Thanksgiving Assembly' Features Student Speakers

Five students of Sikeston high school conducted the annual Thanksgiving assembly last Wednesday afternoon.

Senior Charles Stamp presided over the assembly and gave a welcome to the student body, faculty, and guests.

He was assisted by sophomore Mike Struwe who spoke on the subject, "Origin of the Harvest Feast."

Junior Jim Bucher and senior Steve Spear discussed the topic "Every Day Is Thanksgiving Day."

Concert choir, directed by Gordon Beaver, rendered four selections.

Numbers were "Heavenly Light," written by Kopylow; "They That Know Thy Name"; "God That Made the World"; and "Offer Unto God Thanksgiving"; all written by L. S. Glarum.

Senior Tom Phillips concluded the program with "Prayer for Thanksgiving" by Joseph Auslander.

Members of the junior class were in the cafetorium, and the program was carried over the loud speakers to the other students in school.

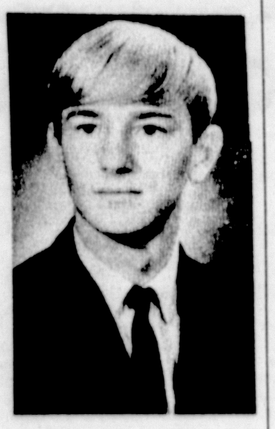

Paula Waldman, chairman of the assembly committee, was in charge of the plans for the assembly.

Holiday Season Arrives; Men Overseas Remembered

Most Americans share this holiday season--Thanksgiving, Advent, and Christmas -- with their families and friends, for this is a time to be united.

To thousands of Americans, however, the family circle is incomplete. The gaps left by the men who are fighting in Vietnam are the most poignant of these vacancies.

At home, Americans are celebrating this usually festive holiday season in solemn pondering about the welfare of their countrymen abroad.

Fond memories of home are most valuable at this time to the brave men who are defending our most precious intangible resources, democracy and freedom.

Although this holiday season will be one of sadness for many Americans, let us be thankful that we are citizens of an abundant society such as this, and that our security is being preserved.

The men who are risking their lives for our well-being deserve the utmost support not only through the holiday season, but through every prayer of every season.

--Linda Bennett.

Sophs Take Maturity Test

SOPHOMORE BETH MONTGOMERY ponders over a question on the California Mental Maturity Test which was given yesterday morning.

* * *

Sophomores of Sikeston high school took the California Mental Maturity Test yesterday morning during the second and third hours.

This test measures the achievements, skills, aptitudes, and attitudes of the student.

Placement of the student is partially determined from this test, and it is designed to show a student's potential working and learning capacity.

CTMM is divided into four sections -- spatial relationships, numerical reasoning, logical reasoning, and verbal concepts.

Testing was supervised by Mrs. Helen Reuber, Chester Masterson, and Gerald Hancock, guidance counselors in Sikeston high school.

From The Upper Room

God said, Let us make him in our image, after our likeness. (Genesis 1:26)

PRAYER: We thank Thee dear Father, for the cleansing power of Thy forgiving love. May we give heart and soul, mind and strength, to serve Thee. This we pray in the name of our Savior. Amen.

A group of airmen were discussing the electrical appliances they planned to buy for their wives with a recent pay raise. A grizzled veteran, who had been listening with evident disgust at such extravagances, dispersed the group with the remark: "Bought my wife a clothes drier last month -- 200 feet of it, complete with pulleys."

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: We are newlyweds who have reached an impasse and have agreed to abide by your decision.

My husband has a partial plate. I knew this when I married him but it made no difference. The problem is that my husband refuses to allow me in the bathroom when he is brushing his plate. It hurts me to be shut out.

I feel a married couple should be completely open with each other in every way. I have never refused my husband anything he has asked of me. Last night I begged him to let me see him without his partial but he said, "No." Please settle this disagreement in my favor because it means a lot to me-- ALMOST PARADISE

Dear Almost: I believe married couples should be completely open, too, but what you are after is not "openness." It is, instead, a violation of your husband's privacy.

Too much togetherness can suffocate a marriage. People need to be alone. If the man is self-conscious about being seen without his partial plate, for heaven's sake respect his feelings. And please read the next letter. It may help you view the situation differently.

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago, my husband had dentures made. I was happy when he finally agreed to put his mouth in shape because he has been needing it for a long time.

The problem is he will not keep his teeth in. He looks about 20 years older without his dentures and I hate to look at him. He also spoils my appetite when he takes his teeth out and gums his food.

I have asked him repeatedly why he keeps removing his dentures and he claims it takes a while to get used to them. He says nobody who has his own teeth knows how it feels to have plates.

Please, Ann, please print my letter and your advice because I see other men going around toothless and I just can't understand it. -- BAFFLED BELLE

Dear Belle: Your husband's dentures are probably uncomfortable. He should go back to the dentist and get them adjusted. Teeth cannot help your husband eat better or look better if they are in a glass. Urge him to make an appointment at once.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife doesn't think we have a problem. I disagree.

Our youngest son is in the fifth grade. Ever since he started to talk he has told the most fantastic stories. I admit I used to think it was funny, but now I feel it's time he stopped the story-telling and stuck to the truth.

My wife says his imagination is wonderful. She enjoys repeating his wild stories to anyone who will listen. Often she does this in the boy's presence. When I tell her I think our son needs help she laughs and says he will outgrow it. What do you think? -- PERPLEXED PAPA

Dear Papa: A fifth grader (even though he has a vivid imagination) should be able to separate fact from fantasy. You two have encouraged your son's story-telling and now you must put a stop to it or he will turn into one of the world's biggest liars.

Make it clear that every time the boy tells a story he must label it as a story. Show your appreciation for his fantasies, but show even more appreciation for the truth.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35¢ in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Looking Back Over The Years

50 years ago
Dec. 2, 1916

The Methodist Church in this city was formally dedicated last Sunday by Bishop R. Hendrix of Kansas City. During the afternoon service the tablets erected in memory of the Rev. L. F. Aspley, the founder of this church, and Reece G. Applegate were unveiled by Bishop Hendrix and the Rev. H. P. Crowe, a former pastor.

Lee Bowman went to Dexter last Friday to assume charge of the office in the mill belonging to the Scott County Milling Co. there. Mrs. Bowman expects to move to Dexter about the first of the year.

Charles Holmes, 21-year-old farmer of Bertrand, Route 1, was seriously injured when a 1942 model Plymouth sedan he was driving struck a horse on Highway 61 near Miner Switch Saturday morning.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: We are newlyweds who have reached an impasse and have agreed to abide by your decision.

My husband has a partial plate. I knew this when I married him but it made no difference. The problem is that my husband refuses to allow me in the bathroom when he is brushing his plate. It hurts me to be shut out.

I feel a married couple should be completely open with each other in every way. I have never refused my husband anything he has asked of me. Last night I begged him to let me see him without his partial but he said, "No." Please settle this disagreement in my favor because it means a lot to me--ALMOST PARADISE

Dear Almost: I believe married couples should be completely open, too, but what you are after is not "openness." It is, instead, a violation of your husband's privacy.

Too much togetherness can suffocate a marriage. People need to be alone. If the man is self-conscious about being seen without his partial plate, for heaven's sake respect his feelings. And please read the next letter. It may help you view the situation differently.

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago, my husband had dentures made. I was happy when he finally agreed to put his mouth in shape because he has been needing it for a long time.

The problem is he will not keep his teeth in. He looks about 20 years older without his dentures and I hate to look at him. He also spoils my appetite when he takes his teeth out and gums his food.

I have asked him repeatedly why he keeps removing his dentures and he claims it takes a while to get used to them. He says nobody who has his own teeth knows how it feels to have plates.

Please, Ann, please print my letter and your advice because I see other men going around toothless and I just can't understand it. -- BAFFLED BELLE

Dear Belle: Your husband's dentures are probably uncomfortable. He should go back to the dentist and get them adjusted. Teeth cannot help your husband eat better or look better if they are in a glass. Urge him to make an appointment at once.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife doesn't think we have a problem. I disagree.

Our youngest son is in the fifth grade. Ever since he started to talk he has told the most fantastic stories. I admit I used to think it was funny, but now I feel it's time he stopped the story-telling and stuck to the truth.

My wife says his imagination is wonderful. She enjoys repeating his wild stories to anyone who will listen. Often she does this in the boy's presence. When I tell her I think our son needs help she laughs and says he will outgrow it. What do you think? -- PERPLEXED PAPA

Dear Papa: A fifth grader (even though he has a vivid imagination) should be able to separate fact from fantasy. You two have encouraged your son's story-telling and now you must put a stop to it or he will turn into one of the world's biggest liars.

Make it clear that every time the boy tells a story he must label it as a story. Show your appreciation for his fantasies, but show even more appreciation for the truth.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35¢ in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Prayer
From The Upper Room

God said, Let us make him in our image, after our likeness. (Genesis 1:26)

PRAYER: We thank Thee dear Father, for the cleansing power of Thy forgiving love. May we give heart and soul, mind and strength, to serve Thee. This we pray in the name of our Savior. Amen.

A group of airmen were discussing the electrical appliances they planned to buy for their wives with a recent pay raise. A grizzled veteran, who had been listening with evident disgust at such extravagances, dispersed the group with the remark: "Bought my wife a clothes drier lastmonth -- 200 feet of it, complete with pulleys."

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Dec. 2, the 336th day of 1966. There are 29 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1852, Louis Napoleon, having overthrown the Second French Republic, formed the Second French Empire and became Emperor Napoleon III.

On this date in 1823, the Monroe Doctrine was delivered to Congress in a policy statement President James Monroe read to the lawmaking body.

In 1859, John Brown, who had led the historic raid at Harper's Ferry, was hanged at Charlestown, W. Va.

In 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt asked for an explanation of Japanese troop movements in southern Indochina.

In 1954, the Senate voted to censure Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin for contempt and abuse of the Senate.

In 1964, Pope Paul VI, on his second historic journey outside Rome, arrived in Bombay, India, for the Eucharistic Congress.

Ten years ago . . . The Israeli army said its forces had been withdrawn to positions more than 30 miles east of the Suez Canal, in accordance with U.N. orders. Troops of a U.N. emergency force were to take up the positions of the withdrawing Israeli troops.

Five years ago . . . Cuban Premier Fidel Castro said he was forming a single party to lead Cuba down the path to communism. Castro said: "I am a Marxist-Leninst and will be one until the day I die."

One year ago . . . British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, in a television address to the Soviet people, expressed hope Britain and the Soviet Union could try to end the war in Viet Nam.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Dec. 2, the 336th day of 1966. There are 29 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1852, Louis Napoleon, having overthrown the Second French Republic, formed the Second French Empire and became Emperor Napoleon III.

On this date in 1823, the Monroe Doctrine was delivered to Congress in a policy statement President James Monroe read to the lawmaking body.

In 1859, John Brown, who had led the historic raid at Harper's Ferry, was hanged at Charlestown, W. Va.

In 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt asked for an explanation of Japanese troop movements in southern Indochina.

In 1954, the Senate voted to censure Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin for contempt and abuse of the Senate.

In 1964, Pope Paul VI, on his second historic journey outside Rome, arrived in Bombay, India, for the Eucharistic Congress.

Ten years ago . . . The Israeli army said its forces had been withdrawn to positions more than 30 miles east of the Suez Canal, in accordance with U.N. orders. Troops of a U.N. emergency force were to take up the positions of the withdrawing Israeli troops.

Five years ago . . . Cuban Premier Fidel Castro said he was forming a single party to lead Cuba down the path to communism. Castro said: "I am a Marxist-Leninst and will be one until the day I die."

One year ago . . . British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, in a television address to the Soviet people, expressed hope Britain and the Soviet Union could try to end the war in Viet Nam.

R. C. Martin says,

A highly delicate grave, and serious question has arisen in my mind -- and I am forced to tackle the question with a Christian conscience. And with such I am supposed to study the question with the mind of Christ as near as lieth within me.

And in the light of this, I tackle the intellectual, spiritual, and economical advisibility of war. War under any circumstance is a horrible ordeal, indescribable in human suffering, incalculable in economical loss, barbaric, uncivilized, and heathenistic. And most of all contrary to the laws of God.

Back in primitive days when men had not advanced socially or intelligently to any degree, settling disputes by beating out brains, or thrusting through with crude weapons might have been the only way. But in this twentieth century with the modern means of communication, with the well trained diplomatic corps, with the State Department in immediate touch with all important nations of the world, and as well trained in world deplomacy as men are, yet for all this men have come but very little distance from the cave man and his barbaric tactics.

Which is the most civilized, mutilate a mans skull with a crude club or beat his brains out with the butt of a M 1, rifle?

I am swiftly advancing to a state of mind that man is many moons from the level of civilization that his modern intelligence should have brought him.

I have almost, if not, come to the conclusion that wars are senseless, useless, and tend to serve special interest, and in most cases could be avoided if proper measures were taken at the proper time and in proper manner.

Is there justice in a system when some men have to live in almost literal hell and even give their lifes blood for a cause, when some men are basking in riotous luxury getting fat and rich in the name of the same cause? NO! There is no justice in such a system.

The time has come in the history of the world when there is no one to champion the cause of little men. Little men with little minds have become merely puppets on strings to be pulled at the will of crooked politicians, financiers, and war - mongers.

Wars have never proved anything, other than how ignorant, stupid, and brutal some men can be. When the guns are silenced, the treaties have been signed, and the dead have been counted and buried, war - lords go home to their glory; little men go home to their sorry, heartache, and misery.

Nations lick their wounds, while mapping new strategy for other wars with no lessons learned. War - lords cluster around mapped tables and charted walls in cigar smoke filled rooms and plan new ways for world conquest. Politicians dance and play, argue, steal, and lie while planning new ways of legitimate extortion.

High taxation without true and sincere representation is extortion.

Patriotism is a natural resource that any nation could be justly proud. But in many cases warlords, kings and presidents have exploited it to carry out their plans for good or bad. But patriotism is not justification enough to warrant the war policies of many in high places, and in due time we shall learn to read and understand their true motives and judge their wisdom and the justice of their causes, not by the amount of blood they shed in their struggle for shining victories.

Sincerely,
R. C. Martin
Essex, Mo.

To the Editor:

"Why are Americans helping to kill us?" demanded 20-year-old Corporal Donnie R. Fountain of Norman, Okla., in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Dee Fountain. "This makes us all want to sit down and cry."

The young Marine says blood plasma and medical supplies from the United States are helping Communists keep their fighting forces in the field in Vietnam.

Fountain said four members of his patrol were cut down by Viet Cong fire in a village earlier this month. He said a Marine company returned to the village the next day and, "besides finding the dead, they found 15 tons of rice, 6000 rounds of Red ammunition. They also found boxes of blood plasma and medical supplies stamped "Berkeley, Calif.," he said.

After reading such a shocking account can we help ask how can we possibly win a war if conditions such as this exist?

"I am far from a social reformer, but I try to be a realist. The farmers must appeal not only to the middle age and older group but to the younger farmers, who try to make a living. In operating their cooperatives they must include women as members of the boards of directors and managerial positions, and must bridge the gap in all groups, race and religion."

Armed Forces

BLYTHEVILLE AIR FORCE BASE, ARK.,--Two Blytheville Air Force Base air traffic controllers were recently credited by Headquarters, Air Force Communications Service with saving a Cessna aircraft.

Staff Sergeants George S. Pace and William R. Fuhr of the 2101st Communications Squadron, were awarded the Aircraft Save Certificate, the second received this year by their squadron, for their "outstanding skill and professional performance of duty."

The emergency situation evolved early on the morning of August 12, while Sergeant Pace's crew was preparing to be relieved from duty. A control tower operator called the radar unit and reported that a light civilian aircraft, carrying a civilian pilot and his nine year old daughter, was lost in the area due to low level thunderstorms, with distance and position from the field unknown.

Sergeant Pace, the approach control operator, established radio contact with the aircraft, bound from Evansville, Indiana, to Athens, Texas, with a scheduled shop at the Blytheville Municipal Airport. Sergeant Pace directed the aircraft to the base. The control problem was complicated because of the pilots lack of knowledge of instrument flying.

Radar identification was established and the pilot was briefed on the necessary procedures to follow to fly the radar approach. At this point the radar controllers coordinated with the control tower and cleared the local flying area of other air traffic.

The aircraft was brought within range of the precision final approach radar scope where Sergeant Fuhr took control.

He initiated a "box pattern" and a "stairstep" let down procedure to allow the pilot to descend during the straight flight. This innovation proved successful and the aircraft came in sight of the runway about a mile-and-a-half from the field, and proceded to land safely.

"It was all in a day's work," said Sergeant Pace, and Sergeant Fuhr added, "we had the personal satisfaction of having done a job well and the expressed gratitude of a thankful pilot."

FT. DIX, N. J. (AHTNC) -- Army Private Don B. Daughhetee Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Don B. Daughhetee, 205 Byrd Ave., Charleston, Mo., completed eight weeks of advanced infantry training Nov. 19 at Ft. Dix, N. J.

He received specialized instruction in small unit tactics and in firing such weapons as the M-14 rifle, the M-60 machinegun and the 3.5-inch rocket launcher.

PLEIKU, VIETNAM (AHTNC) -- Army Private First Class Phillip T. Evans, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow W. Evans, 915 Lora St., Sikeston, Mo., arrived at the Pleiku, Vietnam, base of the 4th Infantry Division, Nov. 22.

Before being assigned to a specific unit, Pvt. Evans received 50 hours of training with the 4th Replacement Detachment.

Training included field sanitation, civil affairs, mine and booby trap familiarization, reconnaissance and ambush patrolling.

Pvt. Evans entered the Army in April 1966 and was previously assigned to the 3d Training Brigade at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

Evans is a 1959 graduate of Hayti High School.

R. C. Martin says,

A highly delicate grave, and serious question has arisen in my mind -- and I am forced to tackle the question with a Christian conscience. And with such I am supposed to study the question with the mind of Christ as near as lieth within me.

And in the light of this, I tackle the intellectual, spiritual, and economical advisibility of war. War under any circumstance is a horrible ordeal, indescribable in human suffering, incalculable in economical loss, barbaric, uncivilized, and heathenistic. And most of all contrary to the laws of God.

Back in primitive days when men had not advanced socially or intelligently to any degree, settling disputes by beating out brains, or thrusting through with crude weapons might have been the only way. But in this twentieth century with the modern means of communication, with the well trained diplomatic corps, with the State Department in immediate touch with all important nations of the world, and as well trained in world deplomacy as men are, yet for all this men have come but very little distance from the cave man and his barbaric tactics.

Which is the most civilized, mutilate a mans skull with a crude club or beat his brains out with the butt of a M 1, rifle?

I am swiftly advancing to a state of mind that man is many moons from the level of civilization that his modern intelligence should have brought him.

I have almost, if not, come to the conclusion that wars are senseless, useless, and tend to serve special interest, and in most cases could be avoided if proper measures were taken at the proper time and in proper manner.

Is there justice in a system when some men have to live in almost literal hell and even give their lifes blood for a cause, when some men are basking in riotous luxury getting fat and rich in the name of the same cause? NO! There is no justice in such a system.

The time has come in the history of the world when there is no one to champion the cause of little men. Little men with little minds have become merely puppets on strings to be pulled at the will of crooked politicians, financiers, and war - mongers.

Wars have never proved anything, other than how ignorant, stupid, and brutal some men can be. When the guns are silenced, the treaties have been signed, and the dead have been counted and buried, war - lords go home to their glory; little men go home to their sorry, heartache, and misery.

Nations lick their wounds, while mapping new strategy for other wars with no lessons learned. War - lords cluster around mapped tables and charted walls in cigar smoke filled rooms and plan new ways for world conquest. Politicians dance and play, argue, steal, and lie while planning new ways of legitimate extortion.

High taxation without true and sincere representation is extortion.

Patriotism is a natural resource that any nation could be justly proud. But in many cases warlords, kings and presidents have exploited it to carry out their plans for good or bad. But patriotism is not justification enough to warrant the war policies of many in high places, and in due time we shall learn to read and understand their true motives and judge their wisdom and the justice of their causes, not by the amount of blood they shed in their struggle for shining victories.

Sincerely,
R. C. Martin
Essex, Mo.

To the Editor:

"Why are Americans helping to kill us?" demanded 20-year-old Corporal Donnie R. Fountain of Norman, Okla., in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Dee Fountain. "This makes us all want to sit down and cry."

The young Marine says blood plasma and medical supplies from the United States are helping Communists keep their fighting forces in the field in Vietnam.

Fountain said four members of his patrol were cut down by Viet Cong fire in a village earlier this month. He said a Marine company returned to the village the next day and, "besides finding the dead, they found 15 tons of rice, 6000 rounds of Red ammunition. They also found boxes of blood plasma and medical supplies stamped "Berkeley, Calif.," he said.

After reading such a shocking account can we help ask how can we possibly win a war if conditions such as this exist?

tage of farmers. Every farmer should express an opinion until a decision is finally made and once made by the majority then rally to achieve the common goal.

"I am far from a social reformer, but I try to be a realist. The farmers must appeal not only to the middle age and older group but to the younger farmers, who try to make a living. In operating their cooperatives they must include women as members of the boards of directors and managerial positions, and must bridge the gap in all groups, race and religion."

Armed Forces

BLYTHEVILLE AIR FORCE BASE, ARK.,--Two Blytheville Air Force Base air traffic controllers were recently credited by Headquarters, Air Force Communications Service with saving a Cessna aircraft.

Staff Sergeants George S. Pace and William R. Fuhr of the 2101st Communications Squadron, were awarded the Aircraft Save Certificate, the second received this year by their squadron, for their "outstanding skill and professional performance of duty."

The emergency situation evolved early on the morning of August 12, while Sergeant Pace's crew was preparing to be relieved from duty. A control tower operator called the radar unit and reported that a light civilian aircraft, carrying a civilian pilot and his nine year old daughter, was lost in the area due to low level thunderstorms, with distance and position from the field unknown.

Sergeant Pace, the approach control operator, established radio contact with the aircraft, bound from Evansville, Indiana, to Athens, Texas, with a scheduled shop at the Blytheville Municipal Airport. Sergeant Pace directed the aircraft to the base. The control problem was complicated because of the pilots lack of knowledge of instrument flying.

Radar identification was established and the pilot was briefed on the necessary procedures to follow to fly the radar approach. At this point the radar controllers coordinated with the control tower and cleared the local flying area of other air traffic.

The aircraft was brought within range of the precision final approach radar scope where Sergeant Fuhr took control.

He initiated a "box pattern" and a "stairstep" let down procedure to allow the pilot to descend during the straight flight. This innovation proved successful and the aircraft came in sight of the runway about a mile-and-a-half from the field, and proceded to land safely.

"It was all in a day's work," said Sergeant Pace, and Sergeant Fuhr added, "we had the personal satisfaction of having done a job well and the expressed gratitude of a thankful pilot."
